ANTHONY ALBANESE FIRST OZ PM TO GET HITCHED WHILE IN OFFICE

Australian Prime Minister Anthony Albanese married his partner Jodie Haydon in a secretive ceremony Saturday at his residence in Canberra

PET DOG RING-BEARER; PAIR WRITE OWN VOWS

Albanese is the first prime minister to marry while in office in the 124-year history of the Australian federal government. The couple were married by a civil celebrant before 60 guests, including several cabinet ministers. The pair wrote their own vows and their dog Toto was the ring bearer. Haydon's 5-year-old niece Ella was the flower girl, a statement read

AVOIDS LAVISH WEDDING ON EXPERT ADVICE

- Albanese, 62, who is divorced with an adult son, had proposed to Haydon, 46, at Canberra's The Lodge on Valentine's Day last year
- They initially planned a larger-scale wedding. But the ruling center-left Labor Party feared a lavish wedding during a cost of living crisis could hurt the government's chances of being re-elected

Software update of A320s delays flights in India

4 flights cancelled; updates likely by midnight

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

GLOBAL fears of a massive travel chaos following a European Union Safety Agency advisory on Friday to fly about 6,400 Airbus A320s in service only after a flight control software update, were largely eased as airlines scrambled to implement it quickly. While some flights were delayed, only a few cancellations were reported.

In India, where 338 A320 are operational, Air India, IndiGo and Air India Express fixed the problem in most of their fleet after the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) gave them a Sunday morning (5.29 am) deadline to do so.

It, however, led to flight delays, while Air India Express cancelled four of its flights on Saturday to facilitate compliance.

Air India Express flights from Varanasi to Bengaluru, Bengaluru to Varanasi, Guwahati to Jaipur and Jaipur to Guwahati were cancelled while its flights were delayed across some sectors. IndiGo A320 aircraft across the country suffered a delay of up to 30 minutes, said a source. Air India flights too suffered delays.

The problem is expected to be fixed in all A320s before midnight. As of 5.30 pm, Indigo upgraded the software in 184 out of its 200 A320s; Air India did likewise for 69 on 113 aircraft; and Air India Express did so for 17 on 25 aircraft.

The issue was detected after a preliminary technical probe by Airbus on an accident involving a JetBlue flight in the US on October 30.

UNCOMMANDED PITCH-DOWN EVENT

The problem was first noticed in an Jet Blue Airbus A320 last month after it experienced an "uncommanded and limited pitch-down event. The autopilot remained engaged throughout the event, with a brief and limited loss of altitude." The rest of the flight was uneventful

Captain C S Randhawa, former Deputy Chief flight Inspector Operations, DGCA, told this newspaper, "A flight from Cancun in Mexico to Newark International Airport in the US suddenly lost altitude when flying and caused injuries to the passengers on board. This happened when the auto-pilot mode was on, which is meant to smoothly take care of operations. It was later detected that the Elevated Aileron Computer in the cockpit had malfunctioned due to solar radiation," he said.

Top 2 chant unity mantra after b'fast do

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy CM DK Shivakumar, who met over breakfast at the former's official residence 'Cauvery' here on Saturday after the high command's nudge, projected a united front, signalling a truce on the power transfer tussle.

After the meeting, Siddaramaiah addressed the media along with Shivakumar, but refused to give a concrete reply on whether he would or would not honour the supposed agreement where he would transfer power to Shivakumar after completing the first half of two-and-a-half-year term as CM. The agreement was said to be struck within days of Congress coming to power in Karnataka in May 2023. "I said whatever the decision the high command takes we will abide by it. Have you (the media) understood it or not? This is my reply to your question," Siddaramaiah hit back, even as Shivakumar looked on with a smile.

Shivakumar said he has the same political stand on the leadership issue as Siddaramaiah, which is to go by the decision of the top brass. It is said that the party top leadership has asked him to wait for sometime, which was what he conveyed during the press meet.

He said, "We know that the party is going through difficult times in our country. But we are confident that Karnataka will play a major role. We will form the government again in 2028, and move forward in 2029 (LS polls) as well under the leadership of Mallikarjun Kharge and Rahul Gandhi."

The tussle between the two leaders over power transfer intensified after they indulged in shadowboxing on 'X'. Shivakumar put up posts, insisting that Siddaramaiah should keep his word on power transfer, while the latter hit back, stating that he kept his word by fulfilling the promises made to the people of the state. That was when the high command intervened and advised them to settle the issue over breakfast.

Siddaramaiah said, "As there is a session, both of us have been instructed to clear the confusion. It will not be there from tomorrow. The agreement between us is that both of us will move forward together which will be communicated to the high command." MORE: P4

SRI Lanka was on Saturday picking up the pieces after widespread destruction caused by cyclone Ditwah, with President Anura Kumara Dissanayake declaring a state of emergency throughout the country as the death toll rose to 153.

Disaster management authorities in Colombo told local newspapers about 191 people still remaining untraced as search and relief efforts continue across 25 districts. Demonstrating its "neighbourhood first" spirit, India has rapidly escalated its humanitarian response under Operation Sagar Bandhu. The Indian Air Force deployed a C-130 and an IL-76 from Hindon Air Base on the night of November 28-29, delivering 21 tonnes of relief materials, including essential rations and disaster relief equipment, alongside over 80 National Disaster Response Force personnel to Colombo.

"India stands firmly with Sri Lanka in this hour of need," the IAF said in a message on X.

The Indian Navy stepped in and dispatched dry and fresh rations and crucial supplies, including 4.5 tons of dry rations, 2 tons of fresh rations, and essential items, with the help of INS Vikrant and INS Udaygiri. Foreign Minister Dr S Jaishankar said on X that two Chetak helicopters from aircraft carrier INS Vikrant, staffed with Sri Lankan Air Force personnel, undertook search and rescue operations.

Further assistance arrived with two IAF MI-17V5 helicopters carrying 22 personnel and supplies, led by Wing Commanders Nagesh Kumar and Mukul Mahajan. Another naval vessel, INS Sukanya, has left Visakhapatnam en route to Sri Lanka with more relief materials. TN, AP COASTS ON ALERT: P7

Adoption agency CEO: Are orphans falling into hands of traffickers?

RASHMI PATIL @Bengaluru

IN a loaded statement on child adoptions in the country, Bhavana Saxena, Member Secretary and CEO, Central Adoption Resource Authority (CARA), said, "Is there any loophole in the legal system? We need to find out where the orphaned, abandoned and surrendered children are ending up. Why is the registration in the State Adoption Resource Centre and Child Care Institutions so low? Last year, in India, there were only 4,515 adoptions. It is a low figure though it is the highest in the last ten years. Are there leakages in the legal system through which these children are falling into the hands of traffickers? It is time that various departments work together and fix this issue."

She said on Saturday, "33,000 prospective parents have registered on the official website and are waiting to adopt. But barely 2,000 children who are in various child care institutions are Legally Free for Adoption (LFA). It is shocking to see such statistics and figures in a country of 1.3 billion people. These are unreasonable figures."

She was speaking at the state-level adoptive families and Prospective Adoptive Parents (PAP) meet organised by the Directorate of Child Protection on the theme, 'Adoption of Children with Special Needs', at Bal Bhavan in Bengaluru.

She suggested that the responsibilities of stakeholders, including Children Welfare Committees, District Child Protection Officers, Specialised Adoption Agencies (SAA) and Child Care Institutions, are clearly laid down in the Juvenile Justice Act, 2015. P6

J&K-PoK barter is intra-state trade, rules HC

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

IN a significant judgment, the J&K and Ladakh High Court ruled that trade between J&K and Pakistan occupied Kashmir (PoK) qualifies as intra-state trade, as PoK is part of J&K and trade is bound by the GST Act.

Cross-LoC trade between J&K and PoK was started in 2008 as a confidence building measure by India and Pakistan. However, after the February 14, 2019 Pulwama suicide attack in which 40 CRPF personnel were killed and many others injured, India suspended the cross-LoC trade and cross-LoC bus service between Srinagar and Muzaffarabad, PoK's capital.

"The cross-LoC trade was essentially a barter trade where there was no exchange of currency from either side. This cross-LoC trade was between the people living across LoC i.e., trade between two parts of the State of Jammu and Kashmir - one, the then 'State of Jammu and Kashmir' and the other PoK, observed a division bench of J&K High Court comprising justices Sanjeev Kumar and Sanjay Parihar.

The division bench was hearing at least 35 petitions challenging CGST show-cause notices issued to them.

4 SC circulars specify oral mention rule, urgent matters

UDAYAN KISHORE @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court has barred litigants from orally mentioning matters for urgent listing before the Chief Justice of India as items requiring special attention will come up for hearing automatically within two working days.

The court made these changes while restructuring the system of oral mentioning, urgent listing and adjournment of cases effective December 1.

The changes also include barring senior advocates to mention matters before any bench, while encouraging junior counsel to make oral mentionings.

A circular said bereavement in the family or medical emergencies of advocates or parties were the only grounds for adjournments, apart from other genuine reasons accepted by the court.

Four circulars issued by the SC registry on Saturday said the changes were to reduce unnecessary mentioning before benches, and ensure faster listing of matters.

For cases requiring advance listing due to urgent interim orders, parties must submit the mentioning proforma and a letter explaining the urgency to the Mentioning Officer by 3 pm on the previous working day or 11.30 am on a Saturday.

Exceptions are limited to anticipatory bail, death penalty, habeas corpus and urgent eviction or demolition issues.

No listing on same day unless liberty is involved or a death sentence is to be executed

Kavya V's all-round performances played a crucial role in India winning the inaugural Women's T20 World Cup 2025 for the blind in Colombo

CLEAR VISION: WILLPOWER IS THE BIGGEST WEALTH

Kavya V

ARPITHA I @ Shivamogga

"IMMENSELY felt happy to represent India. Nothing is impossible in this world. Willpower is the biggest wealth for any individual," said Kavya V, a visually impaired cricketer who was among the players of the Indian women's blind cricket team that scripted history by winning the inaugural Women's T20 World Cup 2025 for the blind.

The Indian team won the first Women's T20 One-Day International World Cup by defeating Nepal by seven wickets in Colombo on Sunday. Kavya is a resident of Ripponpete of Sagar taluk and a B1 cricketer, who contributed to the team's win by her all-round performance.

The other girls in the team who hail from Karnataka are team captain Deepika TC and Kavya NR.

Kavya hails from Baruwe village in Hosanagar taluk. She was completely blind by birth, but the disability did not stop her from attending the local school till Class 4. In 2009, when her family found that she was facing difficulties to continue her education, a teacher at the school suggested that she go to a special school at Shivamogga.

Even though her family initially disagreed, the teacher convinced them and sent her to the Sharadadevi Andhara Vikasa Kendra at Gopala where she completed her studies till SSLC. It was teachers at this school who encouraged her to participate in sports events.

n 2016-17 Kavya participated in the state-level match in Bengaluru – her parents were not initially willing to send her out of the village, but her friends convinced them. Later, she completed her PUC and degree at Samarthanam Trust, Bengaluru. The Trust supported her to pursue her education and participation in many cricket camps. At present, she is pursuing MA at Jnanabharathi Education Society, Bengaluru.

Kavya said she has played four national tournaments since 2022. She has also played two international games and it was the first time that she was selected to play in the World Cup.

"The team and the team manager supported me. There was strong support from the Cricket Association for the Blind in India (CABI). When I was in my school days, my teacher used to tell me that I play cricket very well. He used to ask me not to have an inferiority complex and fear inside of me. My seniors used to tell me that I play well and constantly pushed me to do better. They encouraged me a lot," Kavya said, adding that she hailed from a very poor family where her parents used to make their livelihood by doing odd jobs.

B'luru South corpn says 8-year-old died due to 'Nephrotic Syndrome'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

AFTER the death of an 8-year-old at Prestige Falcon City in Vasanthapura in Bengaluru South, the Bengaluru South City Corporation (BSCC) has released an official statement attributing the death to 'Nephrotic Syndrome', Multi-Drug Resistant Bacterial Infection.

"A thorough investigation into the death of an 8-year-old child of the housing complex has revealed that this child had been receiving steroid medicines for Nephrotic Syndrome, a Multi Drug Resistant Bacterial Infection for about two years and had been suffering from diarrhea for four days and the child died due to Nephrotic Syndrome a Multi Drug Resistant Bacterial Infection," the release said.

However, as a precaution, a team of doctors has been deputed by the Corporation to provide health services in the housing complex that has over 9,500 inmates and to provide health education to the public. According to senior health officers from the corporation, there have been complaints of Gastoetrities (GE) cases since October 6 onwards in the apartment complexe. So far, 177 cases have been reported. "About 206 adults visited the clinic from the apartment complex in October, and only four complained about GE ailments like loose stools; however, no admission was reported. A notice has been issued to the management board of the housing complex, and it has been instructed to purify the water sources and storage tanks and control them as per the standards of the World Health Organization. The BWSSB officials have claimed that their pipeline network is free from contamination.

On Friday, the Karnataka State Pollution Control Board Official (KSPCB) visited and collected water samples from the apartment complex.

Meanwhile, some residents from the apartment community questioned the need for the advisory, if there were no infections. Later in the evening, Bengaluru South City Commissioner Ramesh visited the Falcon City and spoke to the community members. He directed BBMP health officers to collect samples for tests.

Anekal residents demand repair of neglected roads

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

HUNDREDS of residents from Chandapura, Heelalige, Sampige Nagar, Anantha Nagar and 17 villages in Anekal Taluk raised slogans demanding better roads before the Tasildhar's office on Saturday.

The agitators later handed over a memorandum. The Tasildhar has assured the agitators that their concerns will be addressed.

The agitators claim that the road, which starts from Huskur Road and connects Anantha Nagara and Heelalige, has been in a bad shape for the last 20 years and is awaiting asphalt for the same period.

As per residents under the banner of the Anekal Citizens' Welfare Committee, presidents of Mutthanallur, Chandapura and Singena Agrahara, along with hundreds of farmers, also attended the protest and demanded road infrastructure.

"The Tasildhar was not there, but on his behalf, Shirastedar collected the memorandum. The official from the Taluk Office has told that some work are with the Public Works Department and some are under the Gram Panchayat. The representation will be sent to the department concerned. The official also stated that ongoing work on the Singena Agrhara to AMPC Marker in Huskur will be completed. We issued a warning that the work should be done at the earliest and quality should not be compromised," said Shivaram Reddy, a farmer from Chandapura.

A senior resident from Mutthanallur grampanchayat said, 50-plus apartment community representatives have come to demand better road infrastructure and also expressed concern over the absence of a drain network at Singena Agrhara to AMPC Marker in Huskur.

"The ongoing black topping work is a concern, and the thickness is not much. That apart, due to the absence of a drain, the stormwater will flow on the road, and the tar may get washed away," said the resident.

The residents claimed that, due to bad roads, officegoers and school and college students are suffering the most as the bad road stretch is causing delay and the journey is becoming dangerous and stressful on daily basis.

BWSSB to open doors to water tech startups

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB) will invite startup firms to collaborate on wastewater treatment initiatives, BWSSB Chairman Ram Prasat Manohar said on Saturday. Speaking after inaugurating purification machinery installed by Bosan Whitewater, he said, "We are thinking of making Bengaluru a water startup capital. The first startup has already been given permission. In the coming days, we are ready to offer free opportunities to water-related startups in management, recycling and new technologies at BWSSB units."

The pilot project, launched jointly with Bosan Whitewater, is the first in India where a government water board has allowed a private startup to demonstrate water-recycling technology inside an STP. The pilot plant will receive treated water from the BWSSB STP and purify it through an 11-stage system, producing 70,000 litres of near-drinking-quality water daily. The water will be supplied to industries and commercial establishments along the Outer Ring Road, reducing the city's dependence on freshwater and preventing unnecessary discharge into lakes. Bosan will install the purification equipment at its own cost, while the water board will supply wastewater and help with market linkages.

EVEN as Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and his deputy DK Shivakumar put up a united front after their Saturday breakfast meeting in Bengaluru, the issue of leadership change seems to have been resolved, with both the leaders hinting that they will abide by the Congress high command's decision.

With this, the high command is back to holding the ball on changing the CM and reshuffling the cabinet.

But this is not the end. The tussle over leadership change is likely to escalate again when the high command takes it up to find a permanent solution after the winter session of the legislature and Parliament on December 19.

Sources said the outcome of the breakfast meeting was communicated to the high command leaders. Later, All-India Congress Committee (AICC) president Mallikarjun Kharge and Leader of Opposition in the Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi held talks at the former's residence in Delhi. Karnataka RDPR and IT-BT Minister Priyank Kharge and MLA Sharath Bachegowda were also present.

Karnataka will be on the table when the party's parliamentary board meets in Delhi on Sunday that will be attended by former AICC president Sonia Gandhi, sources said. If needed, the high command may summon both Siddaramaiah and Shivakumar at a later date, they added.

On Saturday while savouring a breakfast spread of idli, upma, chutney, dosa and sweet, Siddaramaiah and Shivakumar held discussion for close to 40 minutes. After the breakfast, Siddaramaiah stuck to his guns, saying he will go only by Rahul's word. It was in fact CM's legal advisor and Virajpet MLA AS Ponnanna who played the role of interlocutor in the breakfast episode. AICC General Secretary (Organisation) KC Venugopal called Ponnanna on his phone on Friday, and spoke to Siddaramaiah, advising him to hold a breakfast meeting, said sources.

Political analysts said the breakfast meeting gives Congress time to save itself from the onslaught of Opposition BJP and JDS during the winter session of the legislature that commences in Belagavi on December 8.

Duo ready to face Oppn's no-confidence motion

KARNATAKA CM Siddaramaiah said, "We have no differences. Not now, not in the future. The winter session will begin in Belagavi from December 8. We have faced the opposition parties effectively and will continue to face them. BJP and JDS have made it a habit to spread propaganda and false allegations. I and DCM will face them effectively as we have worked out strategies required." He said MLAs and ministers visiting Delhi to meet high command leaders does not mean that they are against the government. They did so for ministerial berths after the announcement on cabinet reshuffle, he added.

Blaming the media for the confusion over power transfer, he said, "BJP and JDS have reportedly said they will move a no-confidence or adjournment motion. That is impossible as we have 142 MLAs, while BJP has 64 and JDS 18. It will be a futile attempt. Whatever false allegations the opposition parties make, we will work out to counter them effectively." Shivakumar said, "Opposition parties are entitled to move a no-confidence motion during the Assembly session. We are prepared to face it."

Shivakumar's younger brother DK Suresh told the media in Delhi that the high command had considerably rewarded his brother with the KPCC president and DCM posts.

Next, Shivakumar to host Siddu

Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar said he will host a lunch or dinner for Chief Minister Siddaramaiah over the next few days. He added that there is no factionalism in Congress and it has been like that since SM Krishna was Chief Minister. "There is only one faction and that is the Congress faction. I had not said a word when I was not made a minister for six months in the previous Siddaramaiah government (2013-18)," he said. He stated that he is committed to work as per the high command's directions along with Siddaramaiah to organise the party to bring it back to power in 2028.

'Crisis is real and deep': Oppn rubbishes Cong's unity show

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

EVEN as the Congress dismissed Karnataka's leadership churn as a "media creation," the Opposition BJP and JDS on Saturday escalated its attack, arguing that the crisis is real, deep and openly acknowledged by the Ruling party's own MLAs.

Senior BJP MLA and Leader of the Opposition in Assembly R Ashoka rejected the Congress line outright, remarking, "The leadership crisis is not a media creation. What about the statements of Congress MLAs--HC Balakrishna from Magadi, HD Ranganath from Kunigal? Are they not Congress MLAs? How can they now dismiss it as hype?"

Union Minister Pralhad Joshi, recalling a proverbial Kannada taunt, took a sarcastic swipe at both Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy CM DK Shivakumar. "Both Siddaramaiah and Shivakumar have now said they will listen to the high command."

BJP Rajya Sabha member Lahar Singh Siroya delivered one of the sharpest rebukes, likening the party's predicament to an elephant trapped in a swamp. In a post that went viral, he wrote: "When an elephant is caught in a swamp, even a female frog loves to give it a kick. The Congress high command's inability to resolve the crisis-other than forcing the two divorced leaders to have a cold breakfast this morning-has landed the party in a swamp. It is never easy for an elephant to get out of a swamp." Siroya added that the "paralysed state" of the Ruling party had emboldened "big, small, and retired leaders" to offer unsolicited solutions.

The fresh salvo adds to a week of relentless attacks from BJP and JDS, who have dismissed the Siddaramaiah-Shivakumar meeting as political theatre designed to disguise internal tensions. BJP leaders called it a "makeup show," accusing Congress of "burying their internal rift through staged unity." State BJP president BY Vijayendra termed the narrative "bunkum," linking the alleged power struggle to stalled development and administrative drift.

JDS leader and former CM HD Kumaraswamy, a Union minister, echoed the sentiment, calling the breakfast meeting "drama at the cost of development," accusing the top Congress leaders of indulging in "chair fights" while farmers faced distress and inflation climbed.

All issues resolved, says Satish Jarkiholi

Public Works Minister Satish Jarkiholi has said that the ongoing leadership tussle has effectively come to an end after the meeting between Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy CM DK Shivakumar. Satish asserted that if the CM and Deputy CM work in unison, all issues can be resolved. Speaking to reporters in Belagavi on Saturday, the minister said, "There is nothing new in what they have said. They have only reiterated what we had already stated. Such discussions are common in politics... there is nothing unusual about it." He added that the discussion took place sooner than expected, and the situation has now been settled. "Both of them are our leaders," he said. Emphasising the need to shift focus from political disagreements to governance, Satish urged all organisations to support the legislators. "This collective support will lead to positive development," he said.

Vokkaligas, AHINDA groups rally behind their netas

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mysuru

EVEN as political tensions are on the rise in Karnataka over the leadership row, supporters of CM Siddaramaiah and Deputy CM DK Shivakumar continue to bat for their leader in the tug-of-war over the top post.

Demanding that Shivakumar be made the CM for the remaining 2.5 years as per the so-called power-sharing agreement at the high command level in 2023, the Mysuru-Chamarajanagar Districts Vokkaligara Sangha, along with Swabhimani Vokkaliga Seva Balaga and several other Vokkaliga organisations, organised a bike rally in Mysuru on Saturday morning.

Sri Nischalanandanatha Swamiji of Kengeri Vishwa Vokkaligara Mahasamsthana Mutt flagged off the rally.

The seer said that Shivakumar played a crucial role in bringing the Congress to power in 2023. "CM Siddaramaiah should immediately hand over power to Shivakumar as per the power-sharing pact. Shivakumar has the political and administrative capability to lead the state," he said.

Meanwhile, activists of the Karnataka State Backward Classes Awareness Forum, AHINDA organisations, and the Constitution Protection Committee held a meeting at the Jaladarshini Government Guest House in Mysuru on Saturday and resolved to stage a protest in front of the AICC office in New Delhi if Siddaramaiah is unseated.

Chaired by forum president KS Shivaramu, the meeting passed three key resolutions--Siddaramaiah must continue as CM; any move to remove him will be met with a protest in Delhi; and the Congress high command must immediately intervene to resolve the ongoing political turmoil.

Participants reaffirmed their unwavering support for Siddaramaiah, describing him as the "identity of the AHINDA community" and crediting him with working for the welfare of oppressed groups through effective governance. They also noted that the long-awaited social and educational survey report is still pending, making leadership continuity crucial.

Shivaramu alleged that the BJP and the JDS are conspiring to unseat Siddaramaiah because they "cannot tolerate an AHINDA leader continuing as chief minister." Later, they held a protest by blocking traffic on Hunsur Road in front of the Jaladarshini Guest House, shouting slogans in support of Siddaramaiah.

SHIVAKUMAR VISITS TEMPLE IN MANDYA DIST

Deputy CM DK Shivakumar, accompanied by his wife Usha, visited the famous 12th-century Hoysala-era Sri Bhoo Varaha Swamy temple at Kothathi in Mandya district on Saturday and offered special prayers. After performing mangalarathi and homas, the couple received prasadam and blessings from the temple priests. Asked if he was performing this prayer seeking divine intervention to achieve power, Shivakumar said, "I have come here top offer prayers that is all. Whenever I visit Mandya district, I make it a point to seek the blessings of Bhoo Varaha Swamy. The almighty has always been kind to me and to the people of Karnataka."

Cong high command's tight-rope walk over K'taka leadership issue

NIRAD MUDUR
Deputy Resident Editor, Karnataka
niradgmudur@newindianexpress.com

THE issue over whether or not there would be a change in chief minister in Karnataka has taken a twist. The Congress high command in New Delhi wishes to see an early resolution to the lingering leadership issue. But it may get increasingly difficult for that to happen. In fact, the ingredients for the situation to worsen have already been added to the political broth.

The twist came late on Friday in the form of a party high command-advised breakfast meeting on Saturday morning between Karnataka's dominant two political gladiators, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy Chief Minister Shivakumar – the former hoping to cling on to the CM's post, and the latter vying for it. From the aroma of the breakfast meeting wafting out of the closed doors, it looks like the former is likely to have his way, much to the chagrin of the latter.

The party high command seems to have taken a bite of Karnataka politics bigger than it could chew when Congress returned to power in the state in May 2023 with a thumping majority. Blurred by the celebratory mood among party workers that followed then, and hidden from the eyes of voters who voted the party back to power, was said to be a secret agreement – not in black-and-white, but more of a word given and trusted. That word – said to have been given then to Shivakumar – was that Siddaramaiah would be the chief minister, and that he (Shivakumar) would be elevated to the post after the half-way mark of the five-year term was reached. That happens to be November 2025.

Over the past few months, speculation had kept growing on whether Siddaramaiah would make way – or made to make way – for Shivakumar. There are now two distinct camps evolved within the state Congress. One is supporting the continuation of Siddaramaiah as CM until he completes the full five-year term, the other is screaming for Shivakumar's elevation to the chief minister's post. That is party "unity" for you.

The Saturday breakfast meeting may appear like a "truce" between the two, but Siddaramaiah, in the post-meeting presser, said they would abide by whatever the party high command decides. But events that unfolded over the past few days have done one thing – drive a long-lasting chasm within the state Congress, covered by a thin fragile surface of unity as a facade. That is the problematic ingredient added to the broth.

Groups belonging to AHINDA (a Kannada acronym for minorities, backward classes and Dalit communities, which form the core base of Siddaramaiah's political clout) and Karnataka State Federation of Backward Class Communities (KSFBCC) have warned the Congress of adverse implications if Siddaramaiah was forced to make way for Shivakumar. On the other hand, the Karnataka Rajya Vokkaligara Sangha has vowed to vehemently fight if injustice is meted out to Shivakumar, a powerful Vokkaliga leader. Besides, the prominent Vokkaliga seer Nirmalanandanatha Swamiji, the Adichunchanagiri Mutt pontiff is supporting Shivakumar. Protests have already begun in support of their respective leaders.

Politics, especially in India, is a tricky field. The society is extremely divided on multiple religious, caste, sub-caste, cultural and ideological lines. The divisions are invisible on the surface, but run deep. But these divisions benefit political leaders, for whom they act like power engines for their vehicles of ambition on the road to victory, if they are able to emerge as champions of their respective causes.

Both Siddaramaiah and Shivakumar have successfully achieved that in Karnataka. Both played key roles in bringing Congress back to power in the state, based on their respective political clouts. Both are powerful and have their respective support bases – on the basis of which their respective camps have now evolved, and pushed the issue to a complicated level.

That complication is now facing the party high command. The 2023 assembly poll campaign saw binary power centres – Siddaramaiah, an Other Backward Class (OBC) mass leader with the backing of AHINDA, and Shivakumar, a dominant Vokkaliga leader, the party's trouble-shooter, and money bag not just within Karnataka but even for the party's fortunes in other states. From this very binary equation that powered Congress to victory was born the problem that faces the party in the state and its high command in Delhi today.

Political leaders are human too. They nurture expectations from the efforts they put into ensuring an electoral victory for their party. So do Siddaramaiah and Shivakumar. But Siddaramaiah got the crown; Shivakumar, a word he trusted, 'gifted' the post of deputy chief minister, besides the post of Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC) president from earlier in 2020 based on his potential.

The two leaders sitting down for breakfast together before their one-on-one meeting may appear a positive sign for the state Congress. But the ball still remains in the party high command's court. It is to be seen how it tackles the issue in the coming days, weeks and months – because it is a question, not of whether Siddaramaiah will be able to complete his five-year term or whether Shivakumar will be given the CM's chair, but of whether Congress itself will be able to complete its full term before the next assembly polls in 2028, and Karnataka is a rare, prized state for the Congress in the country, crucially after their drubbing in the Bihar assembly polls.

Environmentalists hold satyagraha in Bengaluru opposing Sharavathi power project

HUNDREDS of people sat on a satyagraha in Bengaluru's Freedom Park on Saturday demanding that the State Government drop the ambitious Sharavathi Pumped Storage Power Project in Shivamogga district.

Organised by Parisarakkaagi Naavu, headed by former MLA AT Ramaswamy, the satyagraha saw eminent personalities collectively voicing against the 2000 MW power project in the two reservoirs of Talakalale and Gerusoppa. The project will impact the state's only Lion Tailed Macaque Sanctuary and calls for the felling of over 10,000 tress, they claimed.

The project will be executed by Karnataka Power Corporation Limited (KPCL) at a cost of Rs 10,240 crore.

Former Supreme Court judges, Justice N Santosh Hegde and Justice V Gopala Gowda along with actor and environmentalist Suresh Heblikar, MLA BR Patil, and pontiffs of various mutts and religious institutions took part in the satyagraha.

"The protest in various forms will continue till the government drops the project. We are not against development, but the question is, is it required. The location where it is proposed is a wildlife sanctuary. The UNESCO protected and heritage site- Western Ghats- has already been destroyed for various works, this is destruction," Ramaswamy said.

It's Official Liquidator's duty to ascertain assets of firm, issue notice to Registrar: HC

THE court noted that it was the duty of the Official Liquidator (OL) of the company (Ideal Jawa) to ascertain the assets of the company and issue the notice to the Registrar. The company court, in its winding up order dated August 17, 2001, had directed the OL to take stock of the assets of the company. The books of accounts and the records of the company were all in the custody of OL.

The OL would have come to know the name and address of the trademark agent of the company. If the OL had failed to protect the trademark for 15 years by not taking any steps for renewal/restoration of registration, the removal of the trademark from the Register of Trademarks cannot be faulted with, the court said. It observed, "If the company had abandoned the trademark, it would not remain custodia legis since the date of presentation of the winding-up petition." The court pointed out that Boman Irani had been maintaining the website 'www.yezdi.com', which was in the public domain since 1998. It would not be proper to say that Irani self-inductively registered the website and was using the same. Section 47 of the Trademarks Act provides that when a trademark has been taken off the register, and it was not used for a continuous period of five years or more, it would be presumed that the mark was not used. In the present case, it is not in dispute that the trademark was not used for more than 15 years and not even renewed. "Considering the provisions of Section 47, we are of the view that the company would not be entitled to claim rights over the trademarks and therefore, no value can be said to be attached to the said trademark," the court said.

How KISS University is Rewriting India's Tribal Story

The Past: When Arms Replaced Books

The 1990s presented India and Odisha with converging crises. Globalization arrived with promises, but for tribal communities, liberalisation, industrialization and globalisation (LPG Raj) meant displacement. Industrial corridors were being carved through ancestral lands. The adivasis of Odisha found themselves pushed to society's margins, watching their forests vanish and their futures evaporate. Maoist insurgency found ground in this despair. Young adivasis, seeing no future, picked up arms instead of textbooks.

I witnessed this firsthand when I was twenty-five years old, almost three and a half decades back. Tribal children dreams extended no further than survival. Education was unthinkable. Health care existed only in reports. In that moment, a clarity emerged. The permanent solution could only be quality education and not tokenistic intervention but a complete solution addressing every barrier.

Prof. Achyuta Samanta

The present: Building Hope at Scale

I laid the foundation of Kalinga Institute of Social Sciences (KISS). It began with 125 poor tribal children in 1992-1993. Today, we serve 80,000 tribal students. Over 800,000 have been impacted directly and indirectly through KISS. We became the world's largest tribal residential institute and, after deemed university status in 2017 from Government of India for which I worked diligently and relentlessly for years, KISS Deemed to be University is the world's only university exclusively for indigenous scholars.

The model is comprehensive by design. When tribal children join KISS, they leave behind poverty but not identity. They are first-generation learners. What they require is totality of support which includes free education, accommodation, health care, clothing, food. KISS provides all in a package of fully free fully residential model. But comprehensiveness means more than material needs. KISS provides all-round development aligned with Sustainable Development Goals. Academic excellence, skill education, sports training, immersion in tribal art, culture, literature, music. We create not merely graduates but good human beings rooted in heritage yet prepared for contemporary challenges. For both poor and better-off tribal families, KISS represents hope crystallized into institution. It is where every tribal child's dream finds space to flourish. KISS has addressed the problems of trafficking, drop out, child marriage, naxalism and hunger to a great extent among tribal in Odisha.

The future: Transformation in Action

The 5th Convocation of KISS Deemed to be University represents more than credential conferral. It's being graced by top thought leaders including a Nobel Laureate who shall deliver the Convocation lecture. The graduates of KISS have engaged with global scholars, conducted research from tribal medicine to indigenous resource management. Our students achieve stellar results in board examinations and competitive tests. They gain admission to IITs, NITs, IIMs. They clear NEET, CLAT, JRF, NET. But the deeper transformation is harder to quantify. When a tribal girl from a Particularly Vulnerable Tribal Group earns a doctorate and returns to her community, she carries proof that possibilities exist. She becomes living evidence of transformation. This is how insurgency gets arrested through demonstrable pathways to dignity. This is the power of KISS. The comprehensive approach matters because partial solutions create partial humans like I say Half Education is more harmful than no education. KISS ensures students graduate as academically accomplished, culturally grounded, physically healthy, emotionally secure individuals.

The Path Forward

KISS model proves what becomes possible when intervention is comprehensive, when cultural respect meets academic rigor, when commitment meets action. The journey from 125 students to 80,000 validates a simple truth that quality education is the permanent solution. These young graduates walk across the stage carrying their communities' hopes. They are doctors, engineers, researchers, entrepreneurs, artists, scholars. They prove that given genuine opportunity, tribal youth excel as Education is the third eye of a child. The light KISS has kindled shows what India can achieve. Every convocation celebrates individual triumph and collective possibility. These graduates demonstrate that inclusion through education transforms not just individuals but entire communities, creating ripples of change that will touch millions.

Asks electoral officer to release list of candidates by Saturday eve

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

The Karnataka High Court on Saturday quashed the order passed by the Electoral Officer (EO) rejecting the nomination papers filed by KN Shanth Kumar to contest for the post of president of Karnataka State Cricket Association (KSCA).

Directing the EO to consider Shanth Kumar as a valid candidate to contest, the court ordered to announce the list of eligible candidates to contest for the post of president by 3pm on Saturday and hold the elections according to the schedule fixed by the court.

Justice Suraj Govindaraj pronounced the operative portion of the order, which was reserved on Thursday after hearing the petition filed by Shanth Kumar questioning the rejection of his nomination papers to the post of president of KSCA by the EO on November 24.

Before reserving the order, the court had heard the arguments of the KSCA, EO and former cricket players BK Venkatesh Prasad and Kalpana Venkatachar, who are also the contestants for the post of KSCA president.

In the open court hall, the video footage of the scrutiny proceedings undertaken by the EO on November 24 was played to support the argument made on behalf of Shanth Kumar. It said the arrears of Rs 200 due from the sports club represented by Shanth Kumar, which has an institution membership with the KSCA, was already paid when the nomination papers were taken up for scrutiny, and details of payment was informed to the EO.

The KSCA's counsel had submitted that it has not prepared the list of members who have not paid the membership fee, and hence, the members could not be informed about arrears of payment of membership fee as per the bye-law before the election process commenced. The bye-law has provision for not allowing a member to cast a vote in the election and contest elections in case of any arrears, he submitted.

Meanwhile, the counsel of the EO submitted that the KSCA record did not contain the information about the payment of arrears made on behalf of the Sports Club when the scrutiny of nomination papers was taken up.

Therefore, the nomination papers of the candidates for the post of president were deferred for want of the necessary records from the KSCA on the candidates the EO's counsel said.

Will make BJP 'naked', says Saleem, Congress' new Tamil Nadu in-charge

Bengaluru: Newly appointed AICC General Secretary In-charge of Tamil Nadu, Saleem Ahmed, on Saturday said the Congress and its allies would "make the BJP naked" in the winter session of the Assembly in December 2025. Speaking to reporters after assuming charge, Ahmed dismissed the BJP's narrative about the Congress government in Karnataka. "All their propaganda that the Karnataka government is weakening and will collapse soon has been completely debunked by today's breakfast meeting (of Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar) that displayed complete unity," he said. Describing reports of differences between Siddaramaiah and DK Shivakumar as "mere hype", he said, "The party and the alliance are stronger than ever." Ahmed's appointment comes at a crucial juncture as the TN Congress is gearing up for the Assembly elections.

JAL JEEVAN MISSION

Priyank slams Centre for delaying funds

BANSY KALAPPA
@ Bengaluru

The State government on Friday escalated its ongoing financial tussle with the Union government, accusing New Delhi of starving the State of crucial funds for the Jal Jeevan Mission (JJM) and pushing rural drinking water projects to the brink of collapse.

Rural Development and Panchayat Raj Minister Priyank Kharge said the Centre's delay in releasing funds has deprived the State's JJM budget of Rs 13,000 crore, even as the state has delivered tap-water access to 86% of rural households – far above the national average.

In posts on X and a detailed letter to Union Jal Shakti Minister CR Patil, Priyank said the Centre has released only Rs 11,786 crore against Karnataka's approved project cost of Rs 69,487 crore, forcing the state to bankroll progress with its own already-strained resources.

> Nearly Rs 1,700 crore bills of contractors are pending, while another Rs 2,600 crore projects are midway
> Priyank Kharge, Rural Development Minister

Karnataka has so far spent Rs 24,598 crore from its own budget to keep pipelines, worksites and supply chains running. For the current financial year alone, the Centre had allocated Rs 3,804 crore, but only Rs 570 crore has reached the state – a shortfall Kharge says has pushed Karnataka into an emergency situation. The State has now front-loaded an additional Rs 1,500 crore to prevent immediate disruptions, he said.

Nearly Rs 1,700 crore bills of contractors are pending, while another Rs 2,600 crore projects are midway. Contractors have begun demobilising staff, slowing execution and freezing procurement – a move that could jeopardise water supply to the remaining 14% of uncovered rural households, Priyank said.

Couples usually want to adopt kids below 2 years

"SPECIALISED adoption agencies and CWCs must identify children who are abandoned, orphaned or have had no visitation from relatives and bring them under the ambit of LFA. CWCs must see that these children are listed on referral sites where prospective parents have registered," Bhavana Saxena, Member Secretary and CEO, Central Adoption Resource Authority said.

"Most parents want to adopt a child who below 2 years or maximum four years old. If the CCIs and CWCs don't adhere to the timelines, the child will grow and no parent would be ready to adopt them. Many older children are still in CCIs. Make sure that once children come to CCIs, they are declared LFA within two to four months," she said and advised SAAs to work with the Women and Child Development and Health departments to make policies that address the medical and other requirements of children.

DATA OF ADOPTION IN KARNATAKA

Nearly 2,000 children placed with families through legal adoption from 2020-2025

1,700+ in-country adoptions and 210+ inter-country adoptions

150 children with special needs adopted

70 children currently living in foster care arrangements

Ditwah weakening, but rain alert continues for TN

Red and orange alerts in coastal dists; heavy rain likely in south AP

People wade through a flooded road after heavy rainfall due to Cyclone Ditwah, in Rameswaram, on Saturday; High tides lash Chennai's Kasimedu coast | EXPRESS/ MARTIN LOUIS

SV KRISHNA CHAITANYA @ Chennai

CYCLONIC Storm Ditwah over the southwest Bay of Bengal continued its slow north-northwesterly drift on Saturday, triggering a red alert for north Tamil Nadu, Puducherry and adjoining south Andhra Pradesh coasts.

Moving at a sluggish 8–10 kmph, the system remained nearly stationary for several hours, positioned about 220 km south-southeast of Puducherry and 330 km south of Chennai. According to the Regional Meteorological Centre (RMC), Chennai, the system is very likely to persist on its north-northwestward track and approach the southwest Bay, by early Sunday. As it skirts the shoreline, Ditwah is expected to come within 50 km of the Tamil Nadu coast by early Sunday.

The core of the cyclone appeared exposed and the convective structure significantly disrupted after traversing the Sri Lankan landmass. Intrusion of dry air further eroded the system's organisation. Although a brief window of night-time (diurnal) intensification exists, forecasts suggest the system may continue to drift up the coast in its present weakened state.

Despite this weakening trend, the IMD retained the red and orange alerts already issued, cautioning that Ditwah would continue to bring heavy to very heavy rainfall to several coastal districts. Rainfall activity is likely to persist till December 1.Delta districts have already borne the brunt, with Nagapattinam experiencing intense spells since Friday. Coastal pockets recorded between 175 and 250 mm as feeder bands repeatedly struck the shoreline. For Kancheepuram, Tiruvallur, Chennai and Chengalpattu—the most significant rainfall is expected on Sunday.

The forecast indicates very heavy to extremely heavy rainfall over Tiruvallur and Ranipet on November 30, while Chennai, Kancheepuram, Chengalpattu, Vellore and Tirupattur too may receive very heavy spells.

Isolated heavy showers are likely over Tiruvallur on December 1, marking the final phase of Ditwah-linked rainfall. Gale winds of 70–80 kmph, gusting to 90 kmph, prevailed along parts of the Tamil Nadu–Puducherry coast on Saturday and are likely to continue till Sunday. Wind speeds are expected to ease thereafter, though conditions will remain blustery through the day. Sea conditions continue to be high to very rough and are likely to improve only from December 1. Fishermen have been strongly advised to avoid venturing into the sea until then.

As per data recorded till 5.30 pm on Saturday, Karaikal received the highest rainfall of 145 mm, followed by Nagapattinam (113 mm), Pamban (71 mm), Mayiladuthurai (76.5 mm), Tiruvarur (66 mm) and Cuddalore (59 mm). Chennai's Meenambakkam and Nungambakkam recorded 8.6 mm and 6.2 mm, respectively.

RAHUL CASE

Police likely to act after gathering solid proof

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ T'puram

THE special investigation team probing into the sexual harassment charges against Rahul Mamkoottathil, is set to collect further solid evidence against the MLA, before going to the next step. Before summoning the MLA for interrogation, the team is focused on recording witness statements and gathering further evidence to submit before the District Sessions Court on Wednesday when Rahul's anticipatory bail plea will be considered.

Sources said the police are unlikely to launch an all out manhunt until the matter comes up before the court. Since it is unlikely that the accused would be granted bail with such serious charges slapped against him, police are trying to strengthen evidences, sources said. There are indications that the police have started reaching out to women who had earlier raised allegations, to formally register complaints against Rahul. However both Rahul and his friend Joby Joseph are under surveillance to ensure they do not evade investigative limits. Sources indicated that any move to take him into custody is expected to happen later next week. The probe team on Saturday initiated recording witness statements. The statement of the doctor who treated the survivor was recorded. Police have also begun the verification of medical documents submitted by the survivor.

She has reportedly told officers that she met Rahul only after separation from her husband. Her marriage, held on August 22 last year, lasted barely a month, and the couple had lived together for just four days. It was five months after this, she said, that Rahul came into the picture. Rahul also claimed the woman recorded their phone conversations to trap him.

Sabarimala pilgrim bus crash: 1 dead, 46 injured

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Kasaragod

ONE person died and 46 people sustained injuries after a bus carrying 52 Sabarimala pilgrims fell into an over 40-ft-deep gorge in Kasaragod district on Saturday afternoon. The passengers were natives of Chunchunkatte village in Mysuru, Karnataka. The deceased is Harish M C, 36, from Chunchunkatte village.

The incident happened when the bus, returning from Sabarimala, was passing through the Hill Highway of Kasaragod. The bus driver reportedly lost control while negotiating the ghat road in Paramba - Kattankavala section in East Eleri panchayat on Saturday afternoon. The vehicle then plunged into the gorge in the ghat section.

Upon getting an alert, the Chittarikal police arrived at the spot and carried out the rescue operation along with the local residents. According to a communication from the district administration, 22 people have been admitted to Pariyaram Government Medical College in Kannur, four people have been admitted to Cherupuzha Cooperative Hospital and 20 people to St Sebastian Hospital in Cherupuzha. Five children are among the injured and the condition of two are said to be critical.

"The bus was fully packed and for drivers unfamiliar with the Hill Road, it was a treacherous curve," said a police official.

Meanwhile, former TDB president A Padmakumar on Saturday approached the Kollam Vigilance Court seeking bail in connection with the Sabarimala gold theft case. Padmakumar told the court that he had cooperated fully with the investigation and had no involvement in the theft. Also the bail petition of the seventh accused, former Travancore Devaswom Commissioner KS Baiju, was rejected by the same court.

AN old maxim has it that there are years when nothing happens and then there are weeks when decades happen.

It's 16 years this month since Canada and India first discussed a Comprehensive Economic Partnership Agreement (CEPA). In 2009, Canada was ranked 10th and India 11th on the world GDP table. India's GDP was $1.34 trillion and Canada's was $1.37 trillion. In 2025, Canada has a GDP of $2.23 trillion, ranked 10th, while India at $4.13 trillion is the fifth-largest economy.

There are many explanations for the squandered years—the two nations tried in fits and starts to get the treaty done. Essentially, the saga reeks of short-termism, of electoral math overwhelming rationale, of misplaced notions of liberty, and of statesmanship waylaid by sartorial symbolism. The infestation of distrust worsened as Canada accused India of 'foreign interference'. India charged Canada of sheltering Khalistani terrorists, who were responsible for assassinating a prime minister and were openly targeting Indian diplomats. Just a year back, Canada and India expelled diplomats. It seemed the two sides had reached a point of no return.

History tells us events can define or redefine relationships. In February 2025, Donald J Trump arrived as the 47th president of the US. He makes no secret of his dislikes—and Canadian PM Justin Trudeau was one. Trudeau, trailing conservatives, stepped down for Mark J Carney. Trump also has pet likes—for one, Canada as the 51st state of the US. And then he imposed tariffs. As Trump crossed the undefended boundary, Canadians put up their elbows, resulting in a stunning victory for Carney.

Canada is at an inflection of history, like India was in 1991. Carney, an economist like Manmohan Singh who was elected, but with no high command, declared, "The old Canada-US relationship is over." He set about reconfiguring Canada's economy and worked to repair ties. In a significant signal, he invited Prime Minister Narendra Modi to the G7 in Alberta.

Carney brushed off dissent stating, "India is the fifth-largest economy, the most populous country, and is central to supply chains." The meeting between the PMs triggered visits and events—from reinstatement of high commissioners to meetings between the national security advisors. The foreign ministers met in New York, Anita Anand visited Delhi, and then S Jaishankar met Anand in Canada. A ministerial dialogue followed in Delhi.

The new mojo produced an ambitious roadmap to "build strategic partnership across trade, technology, energy, climate action". Last week, Modi and Carney met again at the G20 in Johannesburg and agreed to restart work on the CEPA. With the blending of population-scale tech, skilled workforce, investible surplus and entrepreneurship, the contours of the restart merit attention. Carney is expected to visit India in early 2026, followed by Modi to Canada.

India and Canada will boost supply-chain partnerships in critical minerals and clean energy, and cooperate and invest in AI, aerospace, and skilling education. A new trilateral partnership on technology and innovation between Australia, India, and Canada was signed at the G20 in South Africa. A new $2.8-billion deal between India and Canada for purchase of uranium is on the anvil. On Friday, Commerce Minister Piyush Goyal announced that formal discussions on the CEPA will begin next week.

The discussions will be between two nations uniquely placed to build on their strengths. In structure and scale, the two economies complement each other. The CEPA affords an opportunity to create long-term deals and out-of-the-box partnerships. India needs affordable energy. The heavy crude produced in Canada is available at $46.30, as against the Brent that's at $62. It requires special refining, which India can do up to 270 million tonnes.

Now take the fertiliser sector. Canada holds the world's largest reserves of potash, and has abundant oil and gas. India, which imports both energy and minerals for producing fertiliser, could craft a programme for Indian companies to produce in Canada, leveraging access to energy and ore, avoiding layering of costs. The output could well be deemed duty-free for India.

Canada is also home to the 'godfather of AI' Geoffrey Hinton, Turing awardees, ranked universities, and a buzzing startup space. India has the skills Canada needs and the market to build scale. India is home to the world's largest population-scale identity and payment systems. Its universities produce engineering graduates in millions. Two months back, at a global business forum in Alberta, this columnist had suggested Canada could make H-1B visas portable, and offer a pathway to professionals and companies to build innovations in Canada. Earlier this month, Carney announced a fast-track programme for H-1B visa holders—but it needs a champion.

Indian farmer collectives can adopt and collaborate on precision farming to cut wastage, improve yields, and boost income. Its health sector can deliver globally competitive services, enable scaling of innovations in diagnostics and drug discovery. Last year, four students in Toronto beat MNCs in a race to build drone-busters. India has over 600 firms making a range of drones on frugal economics.

Collaboration beckons—from agriculture and AI in medicine to governance. Carney is opening Canada to Canada. India's experience as one of the oldest continental economies with a robust interprovince trade, supply chains, and an evolved tax system is relevant, and its scholars can throw light on the process of making it work.

Context is critical for success in personal and institutional relationships. To paraphrase Dwight Eisenhower, the key is to keep the doors of consultation always and fully open. "There must never be a final word between friends."

NATIONALISM REPLACES DEAD GLOBALISM

DONALD Trump did not wait for the Johannesburg G20 to conclude before unilaterally delivering what may be remembered as the most decisive blow to multilateralism. His announcement that South Africa wouldn't be invited to the next G20 in Miami was not phrased as a diplomatic concern, procedural adjustment, or even a strategic reservation. Trump, with his Trumpian bravado, exposed how hollow the architecture of global governance has become. It was a blunt reminder that the power dynamics underlying multilateral forums are not principles but prerogatives, and those privileges now lie firmly in the hands of nationalist leaders who have no patience for institutional theatrics.

Trump's announcement was not merely an insult to Pretoria. It was an indictment of the G20 itself. It reminded the world that membership of these global forums is not governed by international law or shared values. These are dictated by the political aureole of the most powerful national leaders. And if the US decides that South Africa no longer fits within its own definition of acceptable global partners, then the elaborate façade of multilateral equality collapses.

In that moment, the G20 was unmasked—not as a council of equals, but as a convenience, one whose guest list can be modified at will. This, more than anything else that happened in Johannesburg, captures the state of multilateralism today: fragile, performative, and entirely susceptible to unilateral sabotage. Nations today no longer believe in the sanctity of global structures. They believe in the primacy of national interest. The multilateral age, already weakened by decades of empty summits, bureaucratic bloat, and ceremonial posturing, is now being buried under the weight of resurgent nationalism.

Johannesburg was supposed to be a triumph for the Global South, the first G20 held on African soil. It was a symbolic moment of recognition for a continent demanding a greater voice in shaping global economics and politics. South Africa had planned a tight, purposeful agenda: climate justice, debt restructuring for poorer nations, global financial reform, energy transition, and economic equity. Yet, the entire summit unfolded under the shadow of Washington's boycott and the even larger shadow of Trump's Miami disinvitation.

To be fair, those who attended, including Prime Minster Narendra Modi, played their expected roles. They condemned inequality, pledged unity, expressed concern over global instability, and reaffirmed commitments to climate goals. But it all felt like rehearsal rather than action. They knew, as everyone did, that without the US, the G20's most influential member, the summit could only generate declarations, not decisions. The absence of the American president was not just an empty seat—it was a visible void of authority.

SOURAV ROY

Johannesburg also revealed a truth too often brushed aside. Global summits today are more ceremonial than consequential. They operate like political festivals, a mixture of speeches, cultural showcases, bilateral flirtations, and performative commitments. Leaders arrive, pose, speak, dine, and leave. The communiqués produced at the end contain lofty phrases accumulated through sleepless negotiations, but almost nothing that would qualify as binding policy. These congregations have devolved into diplomatic theatre performed for domestic media and global optics.

Yet, while the Johannesburg G20 was the latest symbol of multilateral erosion, the decay runs much deeper across the global architecture. Consider the 60-odd multilateral bodies that dominate the international landscape. The United Nations, with its sprawling system of agencies, Unesco, World Trade Organization, International Labour Organization, International Human Rights Council, World Health Organization, UN Development Programme, UN High Commissioner for Refugees, International Monetary Fund, World Bank, and dozens more that have mushroomed across the decades. These institutions have been collectively sired and nourished by a cabal of retired civil servants, diplomats, defeated or unseated political leaders, academics and others to grab lucrative assignments and offices and get lifelong tax-free incomes and pensions. They deliver painfully little when measured against the crises that now define global priorities.

The UN is the most troubling example. Envisioned as the guardian of global peace, it has failed to prevent or resolve nearly every major conflict of the past half-century. The Security Council is paralysed, trapped in a Cold War-era structure that gives absolute veto power to nations whose interests often collide. Other agencies fare no better. The WTO, once hailed as the engine of global trade integration, is now an institution with no functioning dispute settlement mechanism. The ILO produces admirable conventions on workers' rights that disappear into the ether of non-enforcement. Unesco passes resolutions and heritage declarations while cultural destruction continues unchecked. The IHRC debates human rights, but is routinely chaired by governments with appalling records. The WHO has more committees than solutions, more missions than medicines, and more paperwork than preparedness. These organisations endure not because they solve problems, but because they have become institutional landmarks, monuments of bureaucracy—self-perpetuating, structurally insulated, and politically unaccountable. These institutions are at their weakest.

Into this vacuum steps nationalism, not as a fringe force but as the dominant political ideology of the times. Leaders across the world are elected on promises to prioritise national interest above global responsibility. They pledge to close borders, protect industries, secure supply chains, and assert sovereignty against international constraints. Whether it's America First, Britain First, Italy First, India First, or variations across the Global South, the message is the same: multilateralism may offer ideals, but nationalism guarantees power. Domestic voters do not reward leaders for global generosity. Seen in this light, Trump's treatment of the G20 is not an aberration.

Yet, Trump is hardly alone in his reasoning. Other leaders may speak politely about multilateralism, but their policies reveal similar instincts. Nations negotiate trade through bilateral deals because they offer better leverage. Security alliances are increasingly regional or issue-specific rather than global. Johannesburg, therefore, must be understood not as another summit but as a symbolic tombstone marking the end of the multilateral era.

The world is now entering a decisive new phase. Either new, leaner, purpose-driven institutions will emerge to manage cooperation where it is still possible, or nations will increasingly rely on direct negotiation and bilateralism as the primary mode of diplomacy. The age of sprawling global bureaucracies is coming to an end. They have lost credibility, capacity, and consent. What remains is the residue of old ideals preserved in buildings, budgets, and slogans.

If the global system is to be rebuilt, it must be rebuilt from the ground up with institutions that have authority, agility, and teeth. The world's crises now demand clarity, urgency, and accountability. Instead, the grand multilateral institutions offer only ritualised paralysis. Nationalism has taken the front seat. Multilateralism is almost dead. And in Miami, when the next summit gathers without South Africa, the world will finally see the truth Johannesburg exposed. Globalism has become a costume. Nationalism is the only libretto leaders are willing to perform.

AWESOME TWOSOME IN FEARLESS FILMMAKING

APARNA Sen's 36 Chowringhee Lane (1981) was a landmark in my formative years as a film buff. I am not sure where I watched it. But what has stayed with me till date are Jennifer Kendal's eloquent presence as the quiet and secluded Anglo-Indian teacher Violet Stoneham, and Ashok Mehta's camera that captures the many shades of loss and solitude that imbue the film, and the textures of a fading world it is set in. It was about underscoring the tenuousness of a community as well as the vulnerability of an individual.

The film was my initiation into fearless female filmmaking. In an ageist film industry and society, Sen was radical in pivoting her debut on the taboo theme of ageing, that too with a senior woman as the protagonist. There was empathy in capturing the routinised habits of Stoneham. There was grace in portraying her stagnancy. There was also the artistic astuteness in crafting the narrative arc from Twelfth Night to King Lear.

Since that introduction to Sen, there has been much to admire about her, personally and professionally. The multi-hyphenate renaissance woman has been both influential and awe-inspiring with her immense talent, intelligence, commitment, and drive—as actor-writer-director-magazine editor-activist—that have shown no signs of waning as she turned 80 on October 25.

Legend has it that Shyam Benegal had initially offered his directorial debut Ankur (1974) to Sen. It was when she declined that Shabana Azmi stepped in and another icon was born, as inspiring and formidable as Sen in being a vital, nuanced personality, and becoming many such characters on screen. Azmi celebrated her 75th birthday on September 18.

In the year of the deserved hubbub around the birth centenaries of filmmaker-actor-choreographer Guru Dutt, filmmaker-writer Ritwik Ghatak, and musician-writer Salil Chowdhury, and the trinity of Khans turning 60, the landmark birthdays of Sen and Azmi also call for hearty celebrations.

I am struck by the alikeness in their strong personalities and obvious individuality. The two are close friends. Both have contributed to the progress of the independent parallel cinema movement while flirting with the mainstream. Azmi also went international with her work in John Schlesinger's Madame Sousatzka (1988) and Roland Joffe's City of Joy (1992), among others. Both have been sure of what they've wanted in their respective careers and lives, and have been in total control, often making unconventional choices in relationships as well as films.

The lives and careers of Aparna Sen, 80, and Shabana Azmi, 75, have crossed paths at several turns. They show how to be beacons of excellence in an ageist, sexist film industry

Most so, both have been a stupendous mix of the feminist and the feminine. Their filmographies would form a major chunk in any research or review of the progressive representation of women in Indian cinema.

Sen's screen presence in films aside, it's her work behind the camera that's of more weight. The films directed by her have not just centred on women, but have also had mature women protagonists alongside the young. Like her exploration of the beautiful friendship of a woman with her ex-mother-in-law in Paromitar Ek Din (2000).

The portrayal of intimacy in Sen's film was ahead of its time. Captured through the woman's gaze, it was neither awkward nor exploitative, but more a metaphor for assertion of identity, liberation, and self-realisation. Like adultery as a transformative force for a middle-class housewife in her 40s, in Paroma (1985).

Sen, however, has placed women's lib in a larger ambit. "I don't believe in any ism other than humanism. Women's issues are to me a part and parcel of humanism itself. Something I believe in and try to live by," she says in Rajashri Dasgupta's monograph Aparna Sen Calls the Shots. It gets reflected in one of her most celebrated films, Mr and Mrs Iyer (2002), with a traditional Tamil Brahmin housewife rising above religious divides to protect a fellow passenger from a communal mob.

Intellectual and artistic legacies have shaped the course of both lives. In Azmi's case, it was the inheritance from poet-father Kaifi Azmi and theatre-artiste mother Shaukat Azmi. For Sen, exposure to good cinema came early, having legendary critic-filmmaker Chidananda Dasgupta for father and costume designer Supriya Dasgupta for mother.

Sen and Azmi are not stuck in the rut of stardom. For them, there has been a wholeness to accomplishments and a mellow abundance to life itself.

● Officials say Maoists now lack unified command ● 'UPA policy paralysis bolstered Naxals'

AFTER HIDMA, FORCES AIM AT DEVUJI, GANESH

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

WITH dreaded Madvi Hidma getting eliminated, the security forces are now approaching the finish line in completely annihilating the Naxal menace in the country. However, officials in the security grid are of the view that the task remains incomplete till Devuji and Ganesh Ukey are neutralised.

According to them, Devuji - the ideological veteran whose influence once shaped regional strategy and who was also a key player in the military wing and Ukey - suffers from chronic ailments and has dwindling loyal cadres. Their capture or neutralisation would be taken as the final assault in ending Left Wing Extremism.

However, the security officials said that Hidma's encounter psychologically unsettled the already fractured organisation and now, eliminating the two ageing commanders, who are the final symbolic pillars of the CPI (Maoist) structure, is the unfinished task, as their presence is holding together the last embers of an insurgency that has lost territory, manpower and public support.

Noting that the recent successes against Maoists are attributed to precise intelligence inputs, the officials said, "The security forces are about to fix the final nail in the coffin, which was earlier considered near impossible."

The intelligence gathering of late may soon result in operations against the two ailing Naxal leaders and it is expected that after both of them are brought to justice, they said.

Capture final nail in coffin

Devuji and Ganesh's neutralisation would be taken as the final assault in ending Left Wing Extremism, say officials

The encounter that resulted in Hidma's death marked one of the most significant counter-insurgency operations in the recent past. Long considered the mastermind behind several Maoists attacks, Hidma's operational acumen was unmatched within the organisation. Many in the security grid believe that with his loss, the Maoists have been reduced to scattered clusters without unified command.

Devuji, now in his mid-sixties, represents the last generation who joined the movement when it was politically charged and organisationally rigid. Though, once a key figure across multiple committees, his influence today is symbolic, the officials said.

CONG ALLOWED 'RED CORRIDOR' TO EXPAND: BJP

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

THE BJP on Saturday alleged that Naxal insurgency in India persisted for an extended period and reached alarming proportions "largely due to policy paralysis" during the second term of the erstwhile Congress-led UPA government.

In a series of posts on X, the BJP claimed that then PM Manmohan Singh had described Naxalism as India's "greatest internal threat", yet the UPA had treated extremists as victims instead of confronting them. "Congress sheltered sympathisers, blocked anti-Maoist action, and gave political cover that jeopardised India's safety," it alleged.

The BJP accused Congress leader Rahul Gandhi of fuelling "Naxalite sympathies", calling it a threat to national sovereignty. A significant factor behind such a situation was the influence of "urban Naxals" inducted as members in Sonia Gandhi-led erstwhile National Advisory Council (NAC), it charged.

Asserting that there is a "significant decline" in Naxal influence under Prime Minister Narendra Modi's government, the BJP alleged that "Naxalite apologists" continue to remain entrenched in the Congress leadership.

"The Red corridor didn't emerge overnight – it was allowed to spread under the #CongressNaxalNexus, and emboldened during the years when India needed a spine of steel," the BP said, adding that countless brave personnel were ambushed from Chhattisgarh to Odisha, Maharashtra to Jharkhand.

'Naxal-hit dists down'

'The influence of Naxalism has witnessed a decline since its peak in the late 2000s, when it impacted 180 districts across India.'

There was no immediate reaction from the Congress to the BJP's charge. The BJP said that PM Modi empowered the home ministry to pursue a decisive strategy against the menace.

"The influence of Naxalism has witnessed a significant decline since its peak in the late 2000s, when it impacted 180 districts across India. By 2024, this number reduced to just 38 districts, predominantly concentrated within the Red corridor in states, such as Chhattisgarh, Jharkhand, Odisha, Maharashtra, and Bihar," it added. Recently, security forces neutralised Madvi Hidma, one of the country's most wanted Maoist commanders, the party said.

DK SHIVAKUMAR

THE GO-TO MAN FOR THE 'GRAND OLD PARTY'

NAUSHAD BIJAPUR

NEWSMAKER

IN the turbulent battleground of Karnataka politics, 63-year-old Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar doesn't just make news, he commands them. A master strategist and the Congress party's organisational backbone, Shivakumar embodies an assertive brand of leadership. As one of the party's most reliable trouble-shooters, his strength lies in sharp political acumen, unwavering loyalty and an ability to bolster organisation at every level.

Shivakumar is currently navigating a challenging phase of his chequered political journey, balancing governance responsibilities with mounting pressures inside the Congress fold and growing speculation over leadership equations in Karnataka. His struggle reflects a tug-of-war between ambition and political realities, as he attempts to assert his place without unsettling the very party he helped grow as a strong force.

While political circles remain abuzz with speculation over an internal push for a leadership transition, both Shivakumar and Chief Minister Siddaramaiah have publicly projected unity, reiterating that they will abide by the Congress high command's decision.

Shivakumar's political journey, beginning in the student movement of the 1980s, and later the Youth Congress, has been marked by resilience, ambition and rise. Building a strong grassroots base in Ramanagara district of Karnataka, he emerged as one of the most influential organisers in the Congress. Contesting his first assembly election in 1989 from Sathanur, Shivakumar has since won eight elections consecutively—the first four from Sathanur and the next four from Kanakapura.

His growing electoral might was evident in the 2023 Assembly polls, where he secured a massive victory margin of 1,22,392 votes with a 75% vote share.

Despite legal battles and stretches of political uncertainty, Shivakumar climbed the party ladder undeterred. He went on to become KPCC president in 2020 and the Deputy Chief Minister in 2023. Over the decades, he has held several key portfolios, entering the cabinet for the first time in 1990 as minister of prisons and home guards. He later served as minister of urban development (1999-2004), energy minister (2014-2018), and minister for major irrigation and medical education (2018-2019).

Currently, as Deputy Chief Minister and KPCC president, Shivakumar holds the pivotal portfolios of water resources and Bengaluru city development.

His legal troubles began in 2017 when the income-tax department raided his premises, leading to an Enforcement Directorate probe into alleged money laundering and tax evasion. He was arrested by the ED in October 2019, a move he repeatedly termed politically motivated. In March 2024, the Supreme Court quashed the 2018 money laundering case, citing legal inconsistencies, handing him major relief.

The relief has shifted both political momentum and perception, with many within the Congress rank-and-file viewing it as a turning point in his bid to get the top job.

As KPCC chief, he steered the Congress to a resounding victory in the 2023 assembly polls, employing aggressive organisational rebuilding, micro-level booth management and crisis-handling strategies. His role in safeguarding Congress MLAs in Karnataka, Gujarat and Maharashtra during political turbulence earned him a national reputation as the party's most reliable shield.

Some of the leaders describe him as a master at reading complex political situations, managing crises and building alliances which makes him a pivotal figure in Karnataka's power dynamics.

"Shivakumar has a remarkable skill to mobilise party workers, strengthen grassroot networks and maintain unity in the party even during critical moments," they add.

In governance, Shivakumar has sponsored several large-scale initiatives. As minister for water resources, he pushed major irrigation and drinking-water projects including the Yettinahole Drinking Water Project, Cauvery Phase-V expansion, and irrigation network expansion across Karnataka. As Bengaluru development minister, he is currently leading India's first city tunnel mobility network, fixing over 2,700 potholes, strengthening storm-water systems to prevent flooding, and facilitating over 4,400 EV charging stations, positioning Bengaluru as India's EV capital.

Today, he stands as one of Karnataka's most prominent political figures—his journey defined by persistence, loyalty and a consistent ability to convert challenges into stepping stones. According to sources, momentum is building among a section of party legislators rallying behind him, with some travelling to Delhi to press for a change of guard. Several senior leaders have indicated they would support his elevation if the high command approves.

With political developments accelerating, Shivakumar has emerged as the leading contender for the Chief Minister's post, backed both by a faction of the state legislature party and influential voices in Delhi. But his ascension rests entirely on the decision of the party's top leadership, mainly Rahul Gandhi and Mallikarjun Kharge.

Pak to be blamed for Op Sindoor: Singh

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

DESCRIBING Operation Sindoor as a "brilliant example of civil–military fusion," Defence Minister Rajnath Singh on Saturday said the coordinated response to the Pahalgam terrorist attack showcased how seamlessly administrative machinery and the Armed Forces can work together during national emergencies.

Speaking at the valedictory ceremony of the 100th Common Foundation Course at the Lal Bahadur Shastri National Academy of Administration (LBSNAA) in Mussoorie, Singh said civil administrators played a crucial role by communicating vital information, building public confidence and ensuring nationwide preparedness through mock drills.

The minister recalled that terrorists killed 26 civilians in Pahalgam on April 22, prompting the Indian Armed Forces to launch Joint Operation Sindoor on May 7. "During Operation Sindoor, the Armed Forces destroyed the terror camps in Pakistan and Pakistan-occupied Kashmir (PoK) in a balanced and non-escalatory response, but it was the misbehaviour of the neighbouring country which did not allow the situation along the border to return to normal," he said. Singh praised the bravery of the soldiers and said the Pahalgam attack tested the country's crisis management system, demonstrating that civil and military establishments can respond jointly and effectively. He called on young civil servants to understand their role in safeguarding national interests and remain prepared for such situations.

Defence minister says empathy central to public service

Rajnath Singh encouraged officers to embrace innovation in a technology-driven era, highlighting several initiatives. He also noted the Ministry of Defence's SAMPURNA initiative, an AI-driven system for analysing defence procurement and payments. Calling empathy central to public service, Singh said administrators must recognise the structural challenges faced by vulnerable communities.

Emphasising deeper coordination between governance and national security, he said such synergy was essential for India to become a developed nation by 2047.

Singh also cited Prime Minister Narendra Modi's governance principles of "Minimum Government, Maximum Governance" and "Reform, Perform and Transform", urging officers to uphold integrity, accountability and public service. "When our government was formed in 2014, India was ranked 11th in terms of economic size. In the last 9-10 years, we have jumped to fourth place. Even reputed finance firms like Morgan Stanley say India might become the third-largest economy in the next two-three years," he said. Civil servants, he added, are "people's servants" who must foster a culture where honesty is routine.

Singh encouraged officers to embrace innovation in a technology-driven era, highlighting initiatives such as Jan Dhan Yojana, Direct Benefit Transfer, the Ayushman Bharat Digital Mission and faceless tax assessment.

Indus Valley Civilisation collapsed after years of drought, says study

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

A series of prolonged and severe droughts lasting more than 85 years each likely drove the gradual collapse of the Indus Valley Civilization (IVC), according to a new study published in Nature. The research, led by IIT Gandhinagar in collaboration with two US universities, shows that repeated drought cycles between 4,450 and 3,400 years ago caused widespread aridification across 65-91% of the region, ultimately forcing the de-urbanisation of Harappan centres.

The IVC, one of the world's earliest and most sophisticated urban civilizations, thrived across the Indus floodplains in India and Pakistan, known for its advanced water systems and planned cities. But in the absence of direct climate records, scientists relied on paleoclimate proxies such as cave deposits, tree rings and ice cores, combined with high-resolution climate simulations, to reconstruct ancient hydrological patterns.

"By integrating high-resolution paleoclimate archives with paleohydrological reconstructions, we identify severe and persistent river droughts lasting decades to centuries that affected the Indus basin," said lead author Prof. Vimal Mishra of IIT Gandhinagar.

The study finds that drought-like conditions began around 4,440 years ago, followed by multiple extreme droughts exceeding 85 years between 4,400 and 3,000 years ago. Evidence from Dharamjali Cave further shows recurring summer and winter droughts between 4,200 and 3,970 years ago Aridification intensified around 4,260 years ago and persisted for more than 300 years, leading to the abandonment of major Harappan cities. Although intermittent winter rainfall initially offered relief, its subsequent decline after 3,300 years ago fragmented Harappan settlements, marking the end of the civilization. The findings offer the strongest evidence yet that climate-driven hydrological stress, and not any sudden catastrophe, was central to the Indus Valley's long, gradual decline.

Only 4% have access to palliative care in India

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

NEARLY 7-10 million people require palliative care (PC) in India, but less than four per cent have access to it, said the latest study, which found that only Kerala and Chandigarh provide better accessibility to these centres as compared to states like Madhya Pradesh, Odisha and Bihar.

The study, published in the ecancermedicalscience journal, said that the demand for palliative care in India is going to rise as four in ten people are estimated to have at least one chronic disease, and the burden is expected to rise to address serious health-related suffering, which is commonly associated with end-stage chronic diseases like cancer.

It said there are various barriers to the poor delivery of palliative care in India, including an inequitable distribution of services and poor geographic access to health centres.

Dr Parth Sharma, the lead author of the study, said, "Our analysis shows that access to palliative care in the country remains extremely poor, forcing people living with serious pain to travel long distances for adequate relief."

"Yet improving access to palliative care and essential opioids for pain management does not require new infrastructure. Significant gains can be achieved simply by training more healthcare providers in palliative care and integrating these services across all levels of the existing health system," said Dr Sharma from the Association for Socially Applicable Research (ASAR), Pune.

The study, which assessed the geographical accessibility of palliative care in India, said that in 2022, India had 526 palliative care centres-Pallium India (PCC-PI), with a density of four per 10 million population. Chandigarh, Delhi, Kerala, and Goa had good access to PCs, while most other states/UTs, especially in the north and northeastern parts of the country, need to improve accessibility in their regions.

Siddhesh Zadey, the corresponding author of the study, added, "Geography is often ignored in talks around universal health coverage, although it's an important determinant. Where you are placed can change your life, including your health access."

He said that the study is part of the larger work on timely access to healthcare within its flagship IndoHealMap project, under which they are building access-to-care maps for around 3,00,000 healthcare facilities.

15% drivers in ride booking apps must be women, HC tells Raj govt

Court issues 35-point order aimed at strengthening state's counter to spurt in cybercrimes

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

THE Rajasthan High Court has directed the state government to substantially increase the number of women drivers on ride-booking platforms. At least 15% of all app-based drivers must be women within the next six months, with the target rising to 25% over the following two to three years. The court also said that ride-hailing apps should give women passengers the option to choose a woman driver as the first preference.

Justice Ravi Chirania issued the directives as part of a detailed 35-point order aimed at strengthening the state's response to what the court described as a "rapidly escalating cybercrime crisis." The order was passed while hearing the bail applications of two Gujarat residents accused of posing as law-enforcement authorities and duping an elderly couple of ₹2.02 crore. Their bail pleas were rejected.

Calling cyber offences a problem that has "multiplied at a staggering pace", the court cited data from a Standing Committee on Home Affairs report, noting that cybercrime complaints rose from 26,049 in 2019 to 20,33,316 in recent years, while the conversion of these complaints into FIRs increased only from 1,032 to 49,532 during the same period. "This shows that in the last five years, the number of complaints has grown manifold. However, the conversion into FIR is very low," the court observed.

To bolster state capacity, the court directed the government to set up a Rajasthan Cyber Crime Control Centre on the lines of the Union government's Indian Cyber Crime Coordination Centre (I4C). It remarked that despite the creation of a Director General, Cyber Crimes, in 2024, the state still lacks a comprehensive mechanism to effectively investigate, supervise, and curb digital offences.

The order mandated strict regulation of both original and second-hand digital device markets, making verification necessary for the sale and purchase of gadgets often used in online frauds. The court also tightened rules on mobile connections, stating that an individual should not be issued more than three SIM cards, and a fourth SIM may be granted only after rigorous checks.

Strengthening investigative capacity, the court instructed the government to appoint a Special Public Prosecutor in every district with sufficient technical and legal expertise to handle cybercrime cases. Additionally, every district must deploy IT Inspectors equipped with the qualifications and field experience needed to identify, monitor, and investigate digital offences. On the financial front, the court directed the government to ensure all banks, fintech platforms, and RBI's state offices aggressively monitor suspicious or mule accounts. These institutions must adopt the RBI-developed Mule Hunter AI tool, along with other advanced software, to detect fraudulent accounts.

The court also asked the state to issue a comprehensive SOP for the use of smartphones and keypad phones in schools.

As per a Raj HC order, the state must ensure 15% women drivers on ride-hailing apps within 6 months, rising to 25% in 2–3 years

The directive is part of 35 instructions issued by Justice Ravi Chirania, who called cybercrime an "unstoppable and rapidly escalating threat"

Manipur displaced people returning home clash with police, two injured

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

A journalist and a policeman were injured in Manipur on Saturday when internally displaced persons (IDPs), seeking to return to their original homes, clashed with security personnel. P Bobo who works with a local news channel, and the policeman sustained minor injuries. Their condition is reported to be stable now.

The trouble broke out when police and central forces prevented hundreds of IDPs from the Sawombung Relief Camp in Imphal from returning to their homes in the Gwaltabi area of Imphal East district.

During a brief confrontation with the security personnel, the IDPs said if normalcy indeed returned to Manipur as evident from the holding of the Sangai festival by the state administration, then why their resettlement was delayed.

Citing their prolonged cluttered existence in relief camps, they demanded that they be immediately allowed to return to their abandoned homes. When they sought to march forward, it led to a security situation. The personnel restored normalcy by firing mock bombs and tear gas shells.

After this action from the personnel, the IDPs staged a sit-in protest and refused to leave the site. The standoff continued when reports last came in. Last week, hundreds of IDPs, lodged at a relief camp in Bishnupur district, attempted to march towards Churachandpur district. Security forces dispersed them by firing tear gas.

The attempts by IDPs from the Meitei community to return to their original homes in or near Kuki areas started after the administration in the state, where President's Rule has remained in force since February this year, took a decision to hold the Sangai Festival. Their argument is that the holding of the festival indicates the return of normalcy in the state.

No relief from ethnic violence in state

Ethnic violence in Manipur had earlier left over 260 people dead and around 60,000 others displaced. A few thousand of them have been resettled in prefabricated structures while the others still live in relief camps.

Training for civic volunteers in state

West Bengal Police has started a statewide training programme for civic volunteers (CVs), with over 8,000 of them scheduled to take part. The necessary instructions from the ADGP (Training) have been issued to all SPs and CPs, specifying the number of volunteers that each unit must release for the five-day programme, he said. "The training is being held across multiple battalion centres, including Barrackpore, Krishnanagar, Salua, Barjora, Asansol, Purulia, Durgapur, Rajnagar Raiganj, Jalpaiguri, Dabgram and Siliguri," the officer said, adding that the CVs under Kolkata Police are not part of this phase. CVs are contractual workers who assist state government police primarily with traffic management and non-core duties.

Ray of hope in biometric tests for birds, animals

It may be a new ray of hope for experts in zoology and pisciculture as with biometric tests of voice and face of animals and birds, their diseases and genetic history can be identified in coming days. In a recently held seminar at West Bengal University of Animal and Fishery Sciences in Kolkata, the experts have shared their findings. According to them, a new milestone in the field of diseases and genetic details of animals and birds could be achieved by using IT, AI and machine learning process. The experiments have already been conducted among livestock like cows and poultry birds, the experts who delivered speeches in the programme said.

Tiger census in the Sundarbans

With deployment of camera traps, tiger census was kicked off in Sundarbans in West Bengal on Tuesday. The exercise will continue till November 30. There is a nationwide quadrennial exercise under all-India tiger estimation programme. The tiger reserve will see deployment of 1,484 cameras at strategic locations of mangrove deltas, while the divisional forest areas will have installations of 320 cameras. All cameras will remain functional in all locations for minimum 45 days. The Sundarbans is spread across 10,000sqkm, a little above 4,000sqkm of which is in India.

User-friendly app: EC seeks public response

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

THE Election Commission (EC) has invited all citizens to download the ECINet App and give suggestions to make the application more user-friendly till the 27th of next month. The app is an integration of 40 election-related applications and websites that were earlier separate.

The user suggestions would be examined, and the platform would be further updated to make it more user-friendly, the poll panel noted in an official statement. The official launch of the ECINet platform is planned for January 2026, it said, adding that the trial version of the ECINet App was put to use during the recent bypolls and Bihar Assembly elections.

"This new digital platform enabled better voter services, quicker availability of polling percentage trends and also the publication of index cards within 72 hours of the close of polls, an exercise that previously took several weeks or months," the ECI statement further read.

The poll body noted that lessons from the Bihar elections and feedback received from chief electoral officers, district election officers, observers and field officials are being incorporated to further enhance the platform's functionality.

Tracking names from '03 voter list huge challenge for many in U'khand

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

THE office of the Uttarakhand Chief Electoral Officer (CEO) has released the 2003 voter list for the special intensive revision (SIR) of poll rolls, but tracing names from that period is a challenge for many residents.

The core issue lies in delimitation exercises that followed 2003, rendering 18 former assembly constituencies obsolete and replacing them with new names and boundaries. The newly released 2003 electoral data, available on the CEO website, is crucial for verifying if a voter was registered before the boundary changes. However, voters searching for older constituency names are finding blanks.

"For the younger generation of voters, searching for names under old constituencies like Dharampur and Raipur in Dehradun, Tharali in Chamoli, or Chaubattakhal in Pauri will yield no results because these assembly seats did not exist in 2003," a source revealed.

Following the state's formation, the first delimitation occurred in 2002, establishing 70 assembly and five Lok Sabha seats, which were reflected in the 2003 rolls. A national-level delimitation in 2008 did not alter the total number of seats but erased 18 existing constituency boundaries, replacing them with new configurations.

"When a current voter searches for his/her new constituency name, they won't find a corresponding entry in the 2003 list because the nomenclature and geographical representation were entirely different back then," explained an official from the state election commission.

Boundaries erased

Following the state's formation, the first delimitation occurred in 2002, establishing the 70 Assembly and five Lok Sabha seats that were reflected in the 2003 voter rolls. A subsequent national-level delimitation in 2008 did not alter the total number of seats but erased the 18 existing constituency boundaries

Mention 'absent, shifted and dead' in forms, EC tells DMs

SUBHENDU MAITI @ Kolkata

THE Election Commission has asked district magistrates (DMs) in West Bengal to report the number of enumeration forms (EFs) marked as absent, shifted, dead, and duplicate (ASDD) Assembly-wise.

A large number of Booth Level Officers (BLOs) in West Bengal have failed to properly mark the form despite lapse of considerable period. The EC has learnt about the irregularities in connection with alleged reluctance of many BLOs, who are not regularly marking EFs as ASDD even after they identify cases like 'absent', 'shifted', 'dead' and 'duplicate' voters, during their door-to-door visits for the ongoing special intensive revision (SIR) of electoral rolls in the state.

Expressing his concern, state Chief Electoral Officer (CEO) Manoj Agarwal and senior officials held a virtual conference (VC) with DMs, who are also district electoral officers (DROs), and electoral registration officers (EROs) and sought reports on AFs without any marking as ASDD cases.

Subrata Gupta, retired IAS and newly appointed state special observer for electoral rolls revision, held a meeting with 12 other serving IAS officers who have also been assigned as observers in districts and separately by the national poll body this afternoon.

Sources said that the ECI has been flooded with complaints against these BLOs. The poll body has also noted that the EFs 'identified as ASDD cases are being collected somewhere else without being marked/digitalised in the BLO App'.

It has also asked the DEOs and EROs to keep strict vigil on the issue directing to take appropriate action against these BLOs. In the VC with DEOs and EROs, the CEO focused on data related to Assembly-wise number of EFs collected by BLOs without ASDD marks and digitalisation.

A section of BLOs backed by the ruling Trinamool Congress staged demonstration in front of the CEO office protesting against the deaths of their several colleagues because of 'unbearable' work load, stress and strain triggered by the ongoing SIR-related jobs. They demanded compensation for the families of the deceased BLOs.

The agitating BLOs along with relatives of their deceased wanted to meet Agarwal but the police prevented them from entering the CEO building at BBD Bag. They got involved in scuffle with policemen deployed at the spot.

On November 26, expressing serious concern over the safety of officers and staff at his office, the ECI secretary, Surjeet Kumar Mishra, had written a strong letter to the Commissioner of Police, Kolkata, and sought an action-taken-report on BLOs' protest inside his chamber.

Landour Bazaar in grip of land subsidence fear

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

MUSSOORIE, one of Uttarakhand's most popular hill stations, is facing an alarming situation due to escalating land subsidence in Landour Bazaar.

The Landour Bazaar, a historical hub, is visibly sinking, raising fears of a major disaster. While similar issues have been reported in other parts of the state, the situation in Mussoorie, called the Queen of Hills, is concerning due to its significance as a tourist destination and its fragile geology.

The central stretch of Landour Bazaar has reportedly subsided by nearly a foot in recent months. Fissures have appeared on the road surface, and cracks are spreading across adjacent shops and homes. "The entire road has been sinking for two years, but the pace has accelerated dramatically in the last few months," said Jagjeet Kukreja, general secretary of the local traders' association. "The ground has dropped by at least a foot."

Local residents allege that unchecked illegal excavation and haphazard, unplanned construction in the lower parts of Landour Bazaar are main reasons for ground instability. Despite complaints submitted to the Mussoorie Dehradun Development Authority (MDDA) and district administration, no tangible action has been taken. "Officials seem to be sitting on our complaints," lamented a shop owner. "If this situation persists, the existence of Landour Bazaar is at risk. A major accident could happen any time."

Mussoorie sits in Seismic Zone-IV, making the sinking land critically vulnerable to sudden collapse or major damage during seismic activity. Experts note that agencies, including IIT Roorkee and the Wadia Institute, have inspected the Landour region in recent years, but their reports have neither been made public nor followed up with mitigation efforts.

The recent heavy monsoon also exacerbated the situation, leading to landslides and the collapse of water bunds and roads in nearby Jharipani area. Asked about the deteriorating conditions, Mussoorie Municipal Council president Meera Saklani assured swift action. Landour Bazaar is located in an extremely geologically sensitive zone.

In a first in country, Bengal governor renames Raj Bhavan to Lok Bhavan

SUBHENDU MAITI @ Kolkata

WEST Bengal Governor C V Ananda Bose on Saturday renamed the Raj Bhavan in Kolkata to 'Lok Bhavan' following a Centre's directive issued on November 25. The Governor's office issued a notification along with a video in this regard. It said that Bengal is the first state in the country to change the name of the Raj Bhavan.

Bose said that, on March 27, 2023, President Droupadi Murmu had handed over a symbolic key of the then Raj Bhavan to Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee on the request of the Governor, heralding a whole new era of the people's Raj Bhavan—the Jana Raj Bhavan.

"In pursuance of the communication from the Ministry of Home Affairs dated 25.11.2025, it is hereby notified that the name of the holdings of Raj Bhavan in Kolkata, Flagstaff House and Darjeeling has hereby been modified and renamed as Lok Bhavan," the notification said.

In a post on X, Bose said, "The Jana Raj Bhavan conceptualisation by the then Raj Bhavan, Kolkata, was prompted by the urge to make the establishment alive to the needs of the people, their aspirations and hopes, their problems and challenges.

Simultaneously, the imposing edifice was to shed its aura of 'awe and fear' and be open to people from all walks of life." The Raj Bhavan, now renamed as Lok Bhavan, serves as the Governor's official residence and also houses his office.

"During the last three years, several constructive people-centric programmes have been initiated. A key element of the Jana Raj Bhavan initiative was its proactive role in the service of people—to be with them whenever such a need arose. Across the length and breadth of West Bengal, whenever there was a situation of exigency -- be it violence, natural calamity, or even complaints of atrocities, Jana Raj Bhavan reached out to those in need," Bose said.

Southeast Asia flood toll hits 400, cleanup begins

Over 270 still missing as rescuers struggle to reach worst-hit areas

JAKARTA

THE death toll from devastating floods and landslides in Southeast Asia climbed past 400 on Saturday as clean-up and search-and-rescue operations got underway in Indonesia, Thailand and Malaysia.

Heavy monsoon rains overwhelmed swaths of the three countries this week, leaving thousands stranded, many on rooftops awaiting rescue. Rescuers in Indonesia were struggling to reach the worst-affected areas of Sumatra island, where more than 270 people were still missing. Flooding and landslides in Indonesia have killed more than 300 people, according to the latest figures from the disaster authority on Saturday.

Of those, 166 were in North Sumatra province, 90 were in West Sumatra, and 47 were in Aceh. Tens of thousands of people have been evacuated, although access to many parts of those three provinces remains cut off, National Disaster Agency head Suharyanto said. He told a news conference that a cloud seeding operation had begun in West Sumatra to reduce the rainfall, most of which had already subsided by Saturday.

Novia, a resident of Pidie in Aceh, said the water in his house had receded, "but the entire place is covered in mud". "Some of the items in the house are damaged or have fallen, and we haven't been able to clean them yet.

"We, the community, are working together to clean up the mud," the 30-year-old told AFP. Firda Yusra said he left his home with his wife and child to seek shelter in a nearby mosque, along with around a thousand others. "Here, we eat whatever is available," he said. Water levels reached three metres in Songkhla province in southern Thailand and killing 162 people in one of the worst floods in a decade.

Workers at one hospital in hard-hit Hat Yai moved bodies into refrigerated trucks after the morgue exceeded capacity. Thai Prime Minister Anutin Charnvirakul apologised for the destruction caused by the floods. "Whenever there are losses, deaths, or injuries, it's always the prime minister's fault," he said on Saturday. "I will use all my expertise and dedication to improve the situation," he said, announcing a two-week timeframe for the district's cleanup.

The Thai government rolled out relief measures for those affected by the flooding, including compensation of up to two million baht (USD 62,000) for households that lost family members. More than 40,000 people have taken shelter in evacuation centres, according to Wanchana Sawasdee, spokesman of the flood relief operations centre, although "some people have already returned home". AFP

Water levels recede

Thailand's Department of Disaster Prevention and Mitigation reported that water levels began to recede across all affected provinces on Saturday morning. Video footage showed local residents returning to their homes, which had previously been submerged, to inspect the damage

Ukraine behind attacks on Black Sea tankers transporting Russian oil: source

MOSCOW

UKRAINE was responsible for attacks on two oil tankers in the Black Sea that it believed were covertly transporting sanctioned Russian oil, a Ukrainian security source said.

The two tankers, the Virat and the Kairos, were rocked by explosions off Turkey's coast late Friday, according to the Turkish transport ministry. One of the two was struck early Saturday again, the ministry said. "Modernised Sea Baby naval drones successfully targeted the vessels," a source in Ukraine's SBU security service told AFP.

It shared a video that purported to show sea drones gliding towards the two ships, before sparking explosions.

Moscow forced to halt oil terminal operations

One of Russia's largest oil terminals halted operations on Saturday following an attack by sea drones, hours before Ukrainian negotiators were headed to the United States for talks on ending the war.

The Caspian Pipeline Consortium (CPC), a group that includes US oil majors Chevron and ExxonMobil and which owns the terminal, called the strike a "terrorist attack".

Ukraine, which did not comment on the incident, has sought to punch back against its neighbour as the war grinds through its fourth year. The attack came as Moscow's forces fired a deadly storm of drones and missiles at Ukraine, killing three people and damaging buildings across Kyiv, according to Ukrainian officials.

"As a result of a targeted terrorist attack by unmanned boats at 4.06 am Moscow time (0106 GMT) single Mooring Point 2 (SMP-2) sustained significant damage," the CPC said in a statement on Telegram. "Loadings at the terminal will be carried out in accordance with established rules once the drone threats are lifted," it added.

The CPC pipeline, which begins in Kazakhstan and ends at the terminal, is a major conduit for Kazakh oil and one of the world's largest by volume, handling around one percent of global supplies. The US has put forward a plan to end the conflict that it is seeking to finalise with Moscow and Kyiv's approval. AFP

Russian attacks kill 3 in Kyiv

KYIV

RUSSIAN drone and missile attacks in and around the Ukraine's capital killed at least three people early Saturday, officials said, as the country's representatives traveled to the US to work on a renewed push to end the war.

Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy wrote on X that the delegation, headed by national security chief Rustem Umerov, was on its way to "swiftly and substantively work out the steps needed to end the war". A US delegation is then expected to travel to Moscow for talks with Russian President Vladimir Putin in the second half of next week.

The Kyiv City Military Administration said two people were killed in the strikes on the capital, and a woman died and eight were wounded in a combined missile and drone attack on the broader Kyiv region, according to the regional police.

Mayor Vitali Klitschko said that 29 people were wounded in Kyiv, noting that falling debris from intercepted Russian drones hit residential buildings. He also said the western part of Kyiv had lost power.

US President Donald Trump last week released a plan for ending the nearly four-year war. The 28-point proposal heavily favored Russia, prompting Zelenskyy to quickly engage with American negotiators. European leaders, fearing for their own future in the face of Russian aggression, scrambled to steer the negotiations toward accommodating their concerns.

Trump said Tuesday his plan to end the war had been "fine-tuned" and he's sending envoy Steve Witkoff to Russia to meet with Putin and US Army Secretary Dan Driscoll to meet with Ukrainian officials. AP

Malaysia has secured the 13th position among 20 contested seats, receiving 129 out of 171 valid votes in its bid for a Category C seat on the International Maritime Organization Council for the 2026–2027 term. "This ensures Malaysia continues to be recognised as constructive partner in international maritime community," the government said.

DEIR AL-BALAH

ISRAELI fire killed two Palestinian children in the southern Gaza on Saturday, a hospital said, marking the latest deaths of Palestinians as a shaky ceasefire with Hamas held.

The two brothers, aged 11 and 8, died when an Israeli drone struck close to a school sheltering displaced people in the town of Beni Suhaila, according to staff at Nasser Hospital, which received the bodies. The Israeli military did not immediately comment.

At least 352 Palestinians have been killed across the territory since the ceasefire between Israel and Hamas took effect on October 10, according to Gaza's Health Ministry. The ministry, part of a Hamas-run government, does not differentiate between civilians and combatants, though it is staffed by medical professionals and maintains detailed records viewed as generally reliable by the international community.

Israel says the strikes are aimed at militants violating the truce, but the deaths have increasingly tested the fragile ceasefire. Both Israel and Hamas have accused the other of violating the deal.

Hamas once again called mediators on Saturday to pressure Israel to stop what it called ceasefire violations in Gaza following the killing of the two children. Israeli forces have also pushed forward on a number of other fronts in recent weeks. Syrian officials said Israeli forces raided a Syrian village on Friday and opened fire when they were confronted by residents, killing at least 13 people. AP

Former B'desh PM Khaleda Zia seriously ill, says aide

DHAKA

BANGLADESH Nationalist Party (BNP) chairperson and former premier Khaleda Zia is still "seriously ill", and may require treatment abroad if her condition stabilises, a close aide said on Saturday.

Zia, the 80-year-old Bangladesh Nationalist Party (BNP) chairperson, was admitted to a private hospital on November 23 when she developed a chest infection that affected both her heart and lungs.

Four days later, the three-time prime minister was shifted to the coronary care unit after several of her health complications worsened.

At a press conference, BNP Secretary General Mirza Fakhrul Islam Alamgir said that Zia was still 'seriously ill'.

"The physicians said she may require treatment abroad, but her current physical condition does not permit overseas travel...doctors will reconsider the matter only if her condition stabilises," Alamgir said.

He said apart from leading Bangladeshi doctors, specialists from Johns Hopkins in the United States and the London Clinic in the United Kingdom were treating her. The hospital authorities did not issue any statement on her health Saturday.

Earlier in the day, Bangladesh President Mohammad Shahabuddin expressed deep concern over Zia's deteriorating health condition, urging countrymen to pray for her quick recovery.

"At this crucial juncture in the country's democratic transition, I convey my heartfelt wishes for the early recovery of former Prime Minister Begum Khaleda Zia," state-run BSS news agency quoted Shahabuddin as saying in a statement.

"I pray to Almighty for her good health and call on countrymen to keep her in prayers," the president said. PTI

ASIA MATTERS

CHINESE MAN INJURED IN MINE BLAST

A Chinese man allegedly attempting to cross illegally into Thailand from Cambodia was injured on Saturday when he stepped on a land mine, the Thai army announced, reiterating its charges that Cambodian forces have been planting the anti-personnel weapons in territory claimed by both countries. Army Spokesperson Major General Winthai Suvaree was quoted as saying that the area where the incident took place, claimed by Thailand to be part of its eastern province of Sa Kaeo, is contaminated with land mines that authorities are in the process of clearing.

PUBLIC HELP SOUGHT TO KEEP CITY SAFE

The SaferSG, Together movement, launched on Saturday by the Minister for Law and Second Minister for Home Affairs, Edwin Tong, seeks to address the growing need for community involvement in Singapore's safety and security. According to a Straits Times report, four key focus areas have been identified: crime prevention, scam awareness, road safety education, and emergency preparedness. Speaking at the Police Community Roadshow, Mr Tong said: "Keeping Singapore safe is not a task that any single organisation or individual can accomplish alone."

Consider airspace around Venezuela closed: Don

WASHINGTON

US President Donald Trump warned on Saturday that the airspace above and near Venezuela should be considered closed, the latest escalation in a standoff with leftist leader Nicolas Maduro.

"To all Airlines, Pilots, Drug Dealers, and Human Traffickers," Trump wrote on his Truth Social network, "please consider THE AIRSPACE ABOVE AND SURROUNDING VENEZUELA TO BE CLOSED IN ITS ENTIRETY".

The US president did not elaborate. Trump's administration is piling pressure on Venezuela, with a major military deployment in the Caribbean that includes the world's largest aircraft carrier. Washington says the aim is to curb drug trafficking, but Caracas insists regime change is the goal.

US forces have carried out strikes against more than 20 alleged Venezuelan drug-smuggling vessels in the Caribbean Sea and eastern Pacific Ocean since early September, killing at least 83 people.

Washington has yet to release evidence that the vessels it targeted were used to smuggle drugs or posed a threat to the United States and experts say the strikes amount to extrajudicial killings even if they target known traffickers. Raising the stakes further, Trump warned earlier this week that efforts to halt Venezuelan drug trafficking "by land" would begin "very soon." AFP

ITC's 24 Mantra to 'organic' growth boost

FMCG major is positioning itself to push growth in a segment growing at 15-20%

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

THE organic packaged food segment in India has gained momentum with the entry of large FMCG players like ITC and Tata Consumer Products Ltd. ITC, which recently acquired Hyderabad-based 24 Mantra Organic, is doubling down on the fast-growing packaged organic food market, banking on rising consumer awareness, improved affordability through integrated sourcing, and significant export opportunities. The FMCG major is positioning itself to accelerate growth in a segment growing at 15-20% annually.

"Organic is a category of huge interest to consumers, the economy and farmers. There is also a lot of export potential," said Anuj Kumar Rustagi, chief executive, Staples, food division, ITC.

According to Anuj Rustagi, India's organic food market is currently valued at around Rs 10,000 crore, of which packaged organic accounts for Rs 3,000 crore. Penetration, however, remains minuscule at 0.35% — one-tenth the global average and a fraction of the US's 5.8%. ITC sees this gap as the biggest opportunity.

As incomes rise and trust in brands strengthens, Rustagi believes India can "lead the world in organic penetration," particularly in large household categories such as dals — a ₹1.5–2 lakh crore market where even a 5–8% organic shift presents a multibillion-rupee opportunity.

ORGANIC PACKAGED FOOD CATEGORY IS ESTIMATED TO HAVE ₹3,000 CR MARKET

NICHE PLAY

The segment is growing at 15-20% rate annually in India

ITC acquired 24 Mantra Organic early this year for ₹472 crore

Penetration of organic food in India is at minuscule 0.35%, compared to global average of 3.5%

A future-ready portfolio

ITC entered the organic segment through Aashirvaad atta, but scale demanded a wider presence and farm-level infrastructure — something that takes 3-5 years to build.

"Organic has to start at the farm. Though we work with farmers, it doesn't mean the produce is organic," Rustagi said. The company valued 24 Mantra's deep backend -- a certified network of 27,000 farmers across 1.4 lakh acres.

24 Mantra brings over 140 organic products, enabling ITC to serve households looking to convert their entire pantry to organic — something that would have taken the conglomerate 8–10 years to build on its own.

The brand will continue to operate independently from Hyderabad with its leadership retained. "We are not here to tell them what to do — they are the experts in organic," Rustagi said, adding the approach mirrors ITC's decentralized leadership structure.

ITC acquired 24 Mantra Organic from Sresta Natural Bioproducts Private Limited for ₹472 crore early this year. Rajashekar Reddy Seelam, founder & managing director, SNBPL, told TNIE that he is excited that ITC would be driving the next phase of growth for 24 Mantra Organic. "We are confident that ITC's institutional strengths in product development expertise and omnichannel distribution network will help in taking 24 Mantra Organic to millions of homes for many generations to come, improve the livelihoods of a large number of farmers across the country," said Seelam.

The company will continue with the 24 Mantra Organic brand name, strengthening marketing investments to restore and expand its once market-leading position.

Exports to power growth

Nearly half of 24 Mantra's current revenue comes from exports — largely to the US and the Middle East. ITC plans to deepen presence in North America and expand distribution to Europe and Canada.

"With our institutional resources, we can take this Indian brand global," said Rustagi, noting the growing popularity of Indian cuisine worldwide.

The acquisition also unlocks new sourcing opportunities for ITC's agri business to supply organic commodities to international buyers.

Organic products carry a price premium of 40%, making the category a sharp lever in ITC's premiumisation strategy. While still small within ITC's foods portfolio, Rustagi said the organic business will be a "significant contributor to future growth," as packaged foods regain double-digit momentum post-inflation.

"Our first ambition is to become the market leaders again in the organic segment," Rustagi said.

Competition

Within organic, there are players like Tata Consumer (Organic India), Organic Tattva, BigBasket's organic brand, some retailers, and many smaller players. Then there are the "natural" ones like Patanjali. Tata Consumer's Organic India made sales turnover of ₹280 crore last year against 24 Mantra Organic's ₹300 crore.

Rustagi clarified that there is a difference between Ayurvedic or natural and organic products. Organic, he says, is a full certification process growing crops without chemical fertilizers or pesticides, and ensuring full custody and storage protocols. "People often think once the crop is grown, the job is done. Even storage has to be organic. I cannot use fumigants or chemicals. There is specific technology modified storage in CO2 atmosphere. That is organic," he says.

MULTILATERALISM FACES EXISTENTIAL CRISIS

GURBIR SINGH

WHEN Union minister for environment Bhupender Yadav returned from Brazil after the Climate Change conclave – COP30 – he said in an interview it was a victory for multilateralism. The conclave had provided the structure for the rich nations to keep their promises for increased funding against global warming, he claimed. Nothing could be further from the truth.

Multilateralism, or the collective forums of nations, has been the desired route to a global vision for the planet. Multilateral decisions provide common ground for the world's progress. They also undercut to some extent parochial and regional pulls.

However, seeing what happened at COP30 and the G20 summit at Johannesburg recently, multilateralism seems to be evaporating fast. Much of the blame can be put at the door of the US' Trump regime and its Make-America-Great-Again (MAGA) ideology; but every nation, every region is pulling hard to ensure its end.

The fossil fuels wall

As the curtains came down last Saturday on the 30th annual Conference of the Parties (COP30) in Belém, Brazil, participants realized that the principal target – the phasing out of fossil fuels – remained elusive as the oil producing countries put up a stubborn wall against any mention of the subject in the conclave's final resolution.

For the first time, at COP28 in Dubai, after much wrangling, the aim of 'transitioning away from fossil fuels' was slipped in. However, opposition from the oil and gas nations led by Saudi Arabia and Russia has ensured that COP29 at Azerbaijan and COP30 at Belem would avoid the subject. The US by choice kept away from COP30, and president Trump minced no words on Climate Change talks calling them a 'con job'.

India's performance in reducing global warming has unfortunately been quite pathetic too. All eyes at Belem were on India considering it is the world's third largest carbon emitter. But India has not yet submitted its climate and carbon reduction plan (known as Nationally Determined Contributions - NDCs) countries are required to do every 5 years. So far, around 120 of the 196 member countries have submitted their updated plans and India is among the remaining ones.

The feet-dragging is because more than 70% of India's energy generation continues to be coal-based and there is little likelihood it will come down. India's defense for long has been that rich nations, the original polluters during the Industrial revolution, must bear the responsibility of funding and reversing global warming.

However, Daniela Durán González, Colombia's Climate Delegate rightly told BBC that scientific evidence indicates that more than 75% of the global greenhouse gas emissions come from fossil fuels. Without an agreement on phasing out fossil fuels, a reversal of global warming is impossible.

Ten years ago, when nations signed the Paris accord, it was optimism all round with the target of keeping global warming below 2°C and preferably at 1.5°C above pre-Industrial times. Since then temperatures have been rising every year, islands flooding and volcanoes exploding; the Paris targets have receded into the horizon. By the end of the century, environmental scientists say, even with the reversals of carbon emissions, we will be approaching a catastrophic rise of temperatures to 2.8°C.

Fiasco at Johannesburg

The recently concluded G20 summit at Johannesburg is another case of receding multilateralism. It was a diplomatic victory for President Cyril Ramaphosa of South Africa, who was able to navigate the summit despite a strident boycott by Donald Trump. But the more important issue of coming up with a solution to the debt crisis faced by developing countries drew a blank.

The significance of the G20 bloc, which consists of 19 advanced and emerging economies, the European Union and the African Union, cannot be underestimated. It represents 85% of global gross domestic product (GDP) and roughly two-thirds of the world's population.

The US boycotted the summit on the specious plea that South Africa was persecuting white farmers. Trump used a non-existent domestic issue to undermine the G20 deliberations. President Ramaphosa stood firm and defended South African sovereignty. However, his central agenda, of addressing spiraling costs for servicing debt that had left African and other nations without budgets for education and healthcare, came to nought.

In October, G20 finance ministers and central bank chiefs met in Washington and agreed to a consensus statement on debt. "We recognize that a high level of debt is one of the obstacles to inclusive growth in many developing economies, which limits their ability to invest in infrastructure, disaster resilience, healthcare, education and other development needs," they said. Johannesburg could not come up with an answer to the debt trap.

As one think tank spokesman put it: "South Africa was outmanueuvred by larger, more economically important members of the G20 who saw little benefit to themselves in reforming the international financial architecture on debt."

The summit ended with a googly from Trump. Since the US boycotted the summit, President Ramaphosa refused to handover the gavel for the next G20 session, to be hosted by the US. In return, Trump declared South Africa will not be invited to the next G20 summit.

Can the US exclude a member of the G20 bloc unilaterally? Can its leaders be denied visas? As the story unfolds, one thing is certain: Donald Trump has set out to undermine the bloc, and he is succeeding.

Digital banking not must for accessing other services: RBI

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

THE Reserve Bank of India has said a bank or financial services provider cannot force a customer to use digital banking channels as a precondition for accessing other services and that the lender has to take explicit prior consent from the customer for offering digital banking services.

The regulator on Friday issued the final draft guidelines on digital banking channels, stating that banks must obtain explicit consent from customers before providing digital banking services, which may be duly recorded/documented. RBI further said lenders cannot make it mandatory for customers to opt for any digital banking channel to avail other facilities such as debit cards.

Digital banking channels are the services provided by a bank to its customers through its website, mobile apps, or other digital channels via any electronic equipment, granting people access to carry out banking and financial transactions.

While it may be more convenient for the customer to opt for some services together (like virtual access to card controls), the choice to apply for digital banking facilities shall lie solely with the customer

Reserve Bank of India

The new digital banking rules mandate lenders to take explicit customer consent, and prohibit them from forcing digital channels for accessing other services and tighten risk controls apart from mandating banks to implement risk-based transaction monitoring and surveillance mechanisms.

"While it may be more convenient for the customer to opt for some services together (for example, virtual access to card controls), the choice to apply for digital banking facilities shall lie solely with the customer," the RBI said in its final digital banking directions.

However, banks can continue to obtain and record mobile numbers of customers to send transaction alerts and other purposes in line with KYC requirements at the time of opening the accounts. Banks will need to put in place appropriate risk mitigation measures in accordance with their policies such as transaction limits (per transaction, daily, weekly, monthly), transaction velocity limits, and fraud checks among others depending on their risk perception.

"It is clarified that wherever specific requirements have been prescribed by the Reserve Bank or payment system operators, stricter requirements of the two shall be applicable. Banks shall ensure continuous compliance with instructions issued by DPSS under the Payment and Settlement Systems Act, 2007 in this regard as updated from time to time," the RBI said.

MFI loan book plunges 17% to ₹3.39 lakh crore

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

INCREMENTAL loan disbursals by microfinance companies have witnessed a decline for the sixth consecutive quarter as banks and other lenders have curtailed funds to the troubled sector. In the second quarter of FY26, loan disbursal declined 17% to ₹3.39 lakh crore, down from ₹4.08 lakh crore in the year-ago period.

The steep decline has resulted in nearly 50 lakh borrowers going out of formal finance, according to the quarterly data released by the micro-finance Industry Network (MFIN), an industry body of banks, MFIs, small finance banks and non-banks providing microfinance. MFIN is also the RBI-recognized self-regulatory organisation of the industry.

The outstanding microfinance portfolio had stood at ₹4.08 lakh crore last year.

"It is ironic as portfolio at risk (31-90 days) has improved to 1.09% and 98% of clients are within the MFIN guardrails, showcasing disciplined underwriting in the sector," said MFIN chief executive officer Alok Misra.

MI to take on RCB in WPL 2026 opener

Harmanpreet Kaur-led defending champions Mumbai Indians will face 2024 winners Royal Challengers Bengaluru in the opening match of the fourth Women's Premier League on January 9 at the DY Patil Stadium in Navi Mumbai. The summit clash is scheduled on Thursday (February 5) likely to avoid a clash with the men's T20 World Cup.

Shooting has grown from strength to strength over the years. After ending Oly hoodoo in Paris, they have had a season to remember

RISING IN STATURE, ONE SHOT AT A TIME

ANMOL GURUNG @ Chennai

INDIAN shooters seem to be bearing a different aura at the moment. Rivals and fellow shooters look at them with awe and they are considered to be one of the benchmarks. Over the last few years or so, they have broken new ground. It's a tale of a process executed with utmost care. They can be considered one of the model sports in the country. They have silenced the doubters with their medal-winning runs at the elite level. Three medals at Paris Games courtesy of Manu Bhaker, Swapnil Kusale and Sarabjot Singh only seems to have added fuel to their pursuit for excellence.

The Indians have continued to set the bar high this season with medals at multiple World Cups. Personal records have tumbled in the process. But the highlight was the World Championships in Cairo, Egypt, where they medalled in seven Olympic disciplines (rifle/pistol), which is unprecedented. Add trap shooter Zoravar Singh Sandhu's bronze to that list, it becomes mighty impressive. They might be making it look like child's play but this prolific run hasn't come overnight. Like woodpeckers trying to break the tree trunks, the shooters, coaches and everyone involved have displayed perseverance over the years. They kept knocking on the door. In the process, they have shed tears and heartaches — most notably during the Olympics in Tokyo and Rio. Despite good outcomes at world level, there were many doubters after those misses.

High performance coach Manoj Kumar, who has been part of the coaching setup for over a decade, recalled one such day when his wards were looked at with scepticism. "In 2023, one of the fellow reporters whom I knew well had commented saying, 'the shooters can't go to China and beat them'. My prediction was 5 to 6 medals then. So that person had taken it as a joke. But I was hopeful as our preparation was really good and in the 50m discipline, we could have won a maximum of six medals and we ended up with five. Sift (Kaur Samra) had also set a World Record then," Manoj said. It had been an arduous journey but those hits had gradually added to shooters' belief. That persistence slowly started to pay off and now, with good dosage of confidence, they are on solid grounds to win more admiration in the days to come. The naysayers have gone quieter and the likes of Sift Kaur Samra is considered to be a genuine contender at the highest level. "At the world level, India has gained a lot of respect and everyone knows that India has a high chance of winning. If I go back to my playing days, (2004-2012) those days we used to observe athletes from other countries. We were eager to learn about their technique, how they would prepare for the finals etc. It was kind of daunting to walk up to them and speak out. But now things have changed. Now, shooters from other countries are watching us, they want to learn about our training schedules etc. They'll be recording videos of our athletes, their training, and pre-match preparations," Manoj assessed.

Jr programme's benefits

To the uninitiated, Jaspal Rana might be a more well-known public figure because of his star pupil Manu. But the vocal coach has been instrumental in providing a platform to many youngsters. He, along with other coaches like Deepali Deshpande, initially worked with junior shooters, helping the country build a strong base. Manu, Esha Singh, who bagged two medals during the World Championships, Aishwary Pratap Singh Tomar and Samrat Rana, who captured world title in Cairo, came through the junior programme. If one takes a glance at the scores, the standards have risen constantly. That has meant the Indians have not rested on their laurels and continued to deliver.

"The world is moving forward and the scores are getting higher and it's getting tougher. At the same time, the shooters have their own expectations, the country has its own expectations, even the media has its own expectations. So that puts a lot of pressure. But still, they have to learn to perform and they have been doing it. It's a good sign. But at the same time, we cannot depend on one or two. We need to have a backup plan," Jaspal, who's currently the High Performance coach of pistol, said. The sport was one of the top-funded sports during the Paris 2024 Olympics cycle with the Indian government spending over Rs 60 crore through SAI and Target Olympic Podium Scheme (TOPS).

Merit-based selection

Unlike many other sports, where the criteria of selection can be subjective, the National Rifle Association of India (NRAI) had adopted meritocracy in regards to picking teams for competitions. Apart from experienced hands like Jaspal, Manoj and Deepali, there are other dedicated coaches and support staff. There is also a dedicated sports science team who cater to the needs of the shooters. Pistol high performance manager Ronak Pandit is one of the persons who's involved in keeping the shooters sharp. "Our policies and our calendars are attuned to ensuring that the shooters are peaking at the right time. At the same time, we are also developing the next line of shooters. For instance, there's Group A & B when it comes to trials. That division was done last year," Ronak, who has been guiding Esha since 2022, said.

What has aided the sport

Solid base: The junior programme, which was put in place after the 2012 London Games, had borne fruit with young shooters getting solid base and good exposure.

Competition: The competitive spirit within the team has helped the shooters push each other and raised their levels over the years.

Solid system and good bench strength: There's a solid system in place. The trails are transparent and the selection is based purely on merit. That has pushed the shooters to their limits and deliver on a consistent basis. That has helped the country produce good bench strength

Strong coaches: Unlike other sports, there's no dearth of elite-level coaches in the country. Moreover, the NRAI has always had top level coaches from outside to give the shooters balanced perspective.

Funding: Shooting has been considered to be one of the biggest medal prospect and it was one of the top-funded sports in the country.

Eyes on Ro-Ko, India seek revival

GOMESH S @ Chennai

TWO days before India took the field in the first ODI against Australia last month, chief selector Ajit Agarkar came out and spoke about Rohit Sharma and Virat Kohli. Speaking at the NDTV World Summit 2025, Agarkar said that it would be silly to put the two senior players on trial every game. Rohit scored a fifty and century, Kohli scored a half-century but India lost the series 1-2.

A little over a month has passed, and it seems like things are back to square one. With India taking the field against South Africa in the first ODI, under KL Rahul as captain, Rohit and Kohli once again are caught in the limelight. Perhaps, it was always going to be the case with Kohli being 37 years old and Rohit closer to 39 than he is to 38.

However, this time there is a little more to it. It will be the first time the duo play together at home since the third ODI against England in February. While Rohit did score runs in Australia, the conditions there were different. It was not the usual aggressive opener India are used to over the last few years in this format. And despite the fact that the batting unit collectively failed in the first two games, the focus will remain on the two senior pros considering their age and the road to the 2027 World Cup. In many ways, it is unavoidable as it was the case with MS Dhoni with every series in the lead up the 2019 WC.

However, here, under a new team management and a young captain, Rohit and Kohli will feel the heat within a lot more than Dhoni would have. Even more so considering the speculations about reviewing their place in the team after the series.

What will be interesting to see is how they go about their business, especially Rohit. Will he come out all guns blazing as he did in Cuttack earlier this year against England or is it going to be a sedate run-accumulator of the past? Time will tell.

As far as the captain is concerned, Rahul said the duo holds significance in the team. "To have senior players in the team obviously makes the dressing room feel a lot more confident. Having their presence and experience helps out a lot of players in the dressing room and helps out the team. So, we are really happy that they are here," Rahul said on Saturday.

Meanwhile, it will not just be Rohit and Kohli who are under pressure but head coach Gautam Gambhir and the team as well. India are coming on the back of a humiliating white wash against South Africa and questions have been raised about the head coach's credentials in the red-ball format. Gambhir, and the team, would want to tuck that away and focus on get back to winning ways. "Winning is the most important thing. So, that is what we are trying to focus on," Rahul said.

The first step towards that would be Rohit and Kohli coming to the party in Ranchi on Sunday and taking India across the line.

Focus shifts to ODIs

RUTURAJ AT FOUR?

With Shreyas Iyer out of the picture, it looked like Tilak Varma will bat at no 4 before the series. However, leading up the match, training sessions indicate Ruturaj Gaikwad could take his place with Yashasvi Jaiswal opening alongside Rohit Sharma.

RAHUL TO LEAD

In the absence of Shubman Gill, KL Rahul will captain and is expected to bat in the middle-order. Whether he keeps wickets or not will depend on Rishabh Pant playing. It seems unlikely that he will start in the first match of the series.

B'desh lose to Oz, but show promise

INDRANEEL DAS @ Chennai

CYCLONE Ditwah seemed to have weakened after hitting Sri Lanka but the rainband moving towards North Tamil Nadu left the city drenched in heavy rain. It was gloomy and the blue turf was wetter than usual. Yet in the middle there was sunshine for a team that made its debut at the Junior Hockey World Cup.

For a country that is obsessed to the point madness with cricket and football, hockey is considered a growing sport. Of late, though, there has been an upsurge. The junior team secured its first ever appearance at the U-21 World Cup last December and back home despite political upheaval and unrest the team managed to stay away from it. It was there to witness for everybody on Saturday with Aminul Islam standing in the middle, fists clenched, hands raised and letting out a deafening yell. He scored his third goal – a hattrick in hockey parlance. Though the team was on the losing side against traditional powerhouse Australia, 3-5 scoreline was a kind of emancipation. Like one top hockey official of the country pointed out, sports speaks universal language and it helps people let out their emotions. It can act as a balm for a country facing political unrest and instability.

Bangladesh since last year has been going through some torrid times. Yet this bunch of boys kept practicing untouched by the turmoil outside. Coach Dutch Siegfried Aikman also joined them and had been with the team for the last four months albeit with a small break before the tournament.

Secretary of the Bangladesh Hockey Federation Riazul Hasan spoke about how the team prepared and followed a programme finalised right after the team qualified for the junior World Cup in Chennai. "We never had any doubts about travelling," he said. "In fact the Indian High Commission in Dhaka and Hockey India helped us a lot." When it comes to hockey, Hasan said the boys never faced any kind of interruption due to political problems either. "Once they qualified for the World Cup, we made a programme, a five-month programme to train the team. And none of the federations, including Bangladesh Hockey Federation, were affected anyway with the events that happened, we may call it politics or whatever it is. We totally followed our programme set up by our federation. Practising in the country, playing matches in the country, playing matches abroad, and then coming down to Chennai ten days before the event started to acclimatise." He pointed out that the Bangladesh team, U-18 onwards, played seven international tournaments. And the result was more than satisfactory.

Siddharth Pandey, who has been associated with Bangladesh hockey for the past one and half years and is also a coach in Abahani Dhaka, said that the bunch of junior players are the best the country has produced. "They need to continue with their training like they are doing right now and in future they could be as good as other top teams like South Korea or Pakistan. India, of course, are far too ahead of the lot. If they keep this batch together for the next 10 years with coaches such as Aikman, they will do improve a lot," said the coach cum commentator. "I am involved with Bangladesh hockey and I have seen the league inside and out. This team and this country could be a rising force in Asian hockey in the next 10 years."

Rise of women's game

It is not just in junior men's hockey that the romance lies, it's also in their young women's programme. For a country that doesn't have a senior team, young girls are taking up hockey from remote regions. It is becoming a vehicle for social change. Hasan was quite animated while speaking about it.

Jr Hockey WC: Hosts rout Oman 17-0

ENS @ Chennai

THE heavens opened up as the evening progressed. It was not just raining from above but on the field too — goal after goal. India thrashed Oman, who were clueless with the ball, 17-0 during their Pool B match.

Despite Oman's porous defence, one thing that stood strong were their rushers and the defence during penalty corners. They got hit on the body but stood their ground. However, they did not know how to stop India from scoring.

India's penalty corner conversion rate has been less than desirable and has been afflicting the team for quite some time. Out of 53 penalty corners they could convert only eight during the Sultan of Johor Cup last month. Even on Saturday, when India juggled and toyed with Oman in their own half in the entirety of the match, they still could not find the net through penalty corners as often they would have liked until the third quarter when Oman looked tired. In the end, that did not matter. Dilraj Singh starred with four goals. Manmeet Singh and Arshdeep Singh scored hattricks while Anmol Ekka and Ajeet Yadav found the net twice. Gurjot Singh and Thounaojam Ingalemba Luwang also chipped in. By the time last goal came, India looked tired to celebrate.

Results: Pool A: Canada 0-7 Germany, SA 2-1 IRE; Pool B: Chile 2-3 Switzerland, Oman 0-17 India; Pool E: Malaysia 5-1 Austria, NED 5-3 ENG; Pool F: France 11-1 Korea, AUS 5-3 Bangladesh.

Last-gasp Foden goal spares Man City's blushes

AGENCIES @ London

PHIL Foden spared Manchester City's blushes with the last-gasp winner after the Premier League title challengers blew a two-goal lead in a dramatic 3-2 win over lowly Leeds on Saturday. Pep Guardiola's side were in danger of losing more ground in the title race following a second half collapse at the Etihad Stadium.

Foden and Josko Gvardiol put City two up before the interval, but third-bottom Leeds hit back through Dominic Calvert-Lewin and Lukas Nmecha. Foden clinched a nerve-jangling victory that lifted City into second place, four points behind leaders Arsenal, who travel to third-placed Chelsea on Sunday. It was a much-needed win after consecutive defeats against Newcastle last weekend and Bayer Leverkusen on Tuesday.

Guardiola's decision to make 10 changes against Leverkusen backfired in a 2-0 loss that prompted the furious Spaniard to claim his players "didn't try". Foden, Erling Haaland, Bernardo Silva, Gianluigi Donnarumma were among the stars back in City's starting line-up for the Leeds clash. City had made their worst start to a campaign for five years and their second-worst under Guardiola.

Other results: Sunderland 3-2 Bournemouth; Brentford 3-1 Burnley.
